

TROOPS POUR INTO SAN ANTONIO TODAY

Seventy-five Trains Laden With Fighting Men Steam Into Texas City Within Few Hours.

ADMIT PURPOSE TO END REVOLUTION

San Antonio, Tex., March 10.—Not knowing just how to designate the concentration of troops down here, they call it "allies maneuvers."

In the next few hours seventy-five troop trains are scheduled to arrive here. The first on the ground was Col. John T. Van Orsdale, at the head of the Seventeenth Infantry. The regiment arrived at midnight, traveling in two sections. The soldiers, owing to the lateness of the hour, spent the night in the cars and de-trained this morning. The regiment has thirty-three officers and 672 enlisted men, two medical officers and fifteen men of the medical corps.

Local wholesalers today submitted bids for furnishing $500,000 worth of provisions for the division. The bids are on 200 subsistence articles, delivery of which is demanded for March 15. Among the specifications is one for a carload of fresh meat every day. Sugar to the extent of 120,000 pounds is wanted; flour, 750,000 pounds; rice, 3,000 pounds; matches, 432,000 boxes; beans, 35,000 tins; tomatoes 40,000 tins; coffee, 20,000 pounds; salt, 24,000 pounds; sweet corn, 12,000 tins and other articles in proportion.

WASHINGTON IS WAITING.

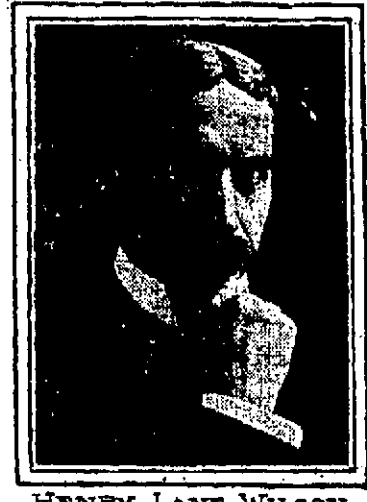

Scene of Activity Is Now Shifted to Southern Borders.

Washington, March 10.—With all the details of the great southward movement of troops completed and the scene of activity shifted from Washington to the field, the headquarters of the army today is awaiting the completion of the arrival of the units of the moving commands at their objective points.

Maj. Gen. Wm. H. Carter, commander of the division concentrating in Texas, is expected to arrive at San Antonio tomorrow. Reports from the war department indicate that by that time nearly all of the troops which will form the division will have reported. Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, it was announced at the war department today, probably will go to the border in April. The purpose of his trip will be to inspect the camp and commands thrown along the frontier.

The navy is carrying out its part of the operations just as though the sudden and extensive preparations of war vessels for active duty was a part of the humdrum of every-day life. Three ships of the Fifth division of the Atlantic fleet are now en route to Guantanamo, Cuba. The armored cruiser Washington, the remaining unit of the division, which is undergoing repairs at the Portsmouth (N. H.) navy yard, will be ready for duty on March 15 when she will be sent to join her division.

The admissions in administration circles that the military activity is inspired by conditions in Mexico were read with deep interest today by officers of the army. A navy, a majority of whom had accepted the earlier explanation that the operations were

HENRY LANE WILSON,
Ambassador to Mexico.

Mr. Wilson, ambassador to Mexico, is an Indiana man, and is now in Washington, having just arrived from the City of Mexico. It is believed that the hasty mobilization of troops on the Mexican frontier is due to reports brought by him.

WILSON ISSUES DENIAL.

Indiana Man Did Not Express Apprehensions as to Diaz.

Indianapolis, March 10.—Henry Lane Wilson, American ambassador to Mexico, arrived here today on his way to visit his mother, who is ill at her home in Crawfordsville, and in conversation with a representative of the Associated Press requested that an explicit denial be made to the report that he had expressed apprehensions relative to the mental or physical condition of President Diaz of Mexico. Mr. Wilson said that if he were not deterred by obvious considerations of propriety from making assertions of the kind accredited to him, which any reasonable person will understand, having admiration and friendship for President Diaz would have restrained him from making such utterances.

"While in New York," said Ambassador Wilson, "I gave very brief, but identically the same in substance but not verbatim, interviews to newspapers in which I referred particularly to the excellent health of President Diaz and spoke of my last visit to him, when he was apparently in the best of health. I also took occasion in these interviews to deny many vague and sensational rumors about the president's condition."

"Upon no occasion have I authorized any statement relative to President Diaz's physical or mental condition that was not entirely favorable to the president."

Hope to Secure Location of a Station in Fort Wayne.

Frank Bishop Killed in Yards at Garrett—Indiana News.

Figures Given Out on Appropriations by Last Congress.

Under the guidance of Congressman Cyrus Cline, Prof. Willis L. Moore, assistant to the secretary of agriculture and chief of the United States weather bureau, spent today in the city looking over half a dozen or more locations for the station that has been asked for Fort Wayne.

"You can say for me," said Prof. Moore, "that I am here as the personal representative of Mr. Wilson, of the department of agriculture. There are a hundred or more applications in for local stations and one or two will be established during the year."

"The object of my visit is to look at the locations, investigate conditions and to make my report upon my return to Washington. I am making similar inspections at other points in this section from which requests have been received."

"The new stations will be established in accordance with my recommendations and that is about all there is to say about my visit to Fort Wayne."

Rooms in the Shoff building were among those shown to Mr. Moore and a number of others were investigated during the day as the commercial bodies here have been busy in a quiet way in their efforts to procure quarters that will make the city look attractive to the government officials in their deliberations on the point of location.

Of Great Advantage.

Weather forecasts are of great value to a community and with this point in view great pressure has been brought upon the secretary of agriculture in behalf of Fort Wayne. While the city has the advantage of daily weather reports they are taken either at Chicago or Toledo and are not as closely local as if they were taken here.

Some time ago an offer was made to permit the erection of the apparatus on the roof of the hotel Anthony, and this would afford excellent opportunity for observations and this was pointed out to the government representative during the day.

If a suitable location could be obtained it is possible that the government would purchase property for the station and erect one that would be designed exclusively for the purpose and this angle of the local situation was taken into consideration.

Professor Moore will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given this evening at the Anthony hotel and he will not take his departure from Fort Wayne until tomorrow. His report will not be made until he reaches Washington and nothing of the result of his investigations will be known until this report has been passed upon.

HOLD ANNUAL LADIES' NIGHT.

Annual ladies' night was held at Harmony hall Wednesday night by Old Fort Council No. 192, Royal Leagues. Cards were played and music was furnished by the Royal Leagues orchestra. Prizes were awarded to the following: Mrs. Henry Lapp, Mrs. Charles Gibson, Mrs. Eric Peterson, Miss Vida Forch, Theodore Bohn, Henry Unger and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schuller.

THE WEATHER.

Washington, March 10.—Forecast for Indiana: Fair tonight and probably Saturday; warmer Saturday; brisk variable winds becoming south tonight. Illinois: Fair tonight; Saturday increasing cloudiness with warmer in north portion. Ohio: Fair and colder tonight; Saturday fair with rising temperature; brisk west winds, diminishing, and becoming south Saturday. Lower Michigan: Fair and slightly colder tonight; Saturday increasing cloudiness and warmer, probably followed by rain; moderate north winds shifting to south late tonight and increasing.

WRECKAGE AND RUIN MARK VILLAGE SITE

Terrific Explosion of Powder Magazines at Pleasant Prairie, Wis., Shakes Seven States.

200 ARE HURT: PROPERTY DAMAGE HIGH

Pleasant Prairie, Wis., March 10.—Smoldering ruins and the wreck of cottages today strewed the site of the little village of Pleasant Prairie, where last night the magazines of the Dupont-De Nemours Powder company exploded, killing at least one man, injuring 200 persons, causing damage of $1,500,000 within a radius of one hundred miles and rocking seven states.

While the officers of the company assert that all the employees except E. S. Thompson, a foreman, were accounted for, three of the men could not be found after the explosion. Search will be made in the ruins today, if possible. Pleasant Prairie is ten miles west of Kenosha, Wis. The powder mill is a mile north of the village, which has a population of about 700.

The force of the explosion completely demolished the houses on the Geneva road, which were nearest the mill, and every house in the village was wrecked. Equal damage was done in Bristol, four miles west. Blown from their beds and with the wreckage of their houses tumbling about them, the residents of Pleasant Prairie loaded their half-clad families on farm wagons and moved in a long procession in search of shelter in Kenosha.

The village was invaded by curiosity seekers and others, and asserting that looting and vandalism was beginning, Sheriff Stahl impressed a hundred deputies and cleared the village.

Brady's Escape Remarkable.

The escape of Supt. Clarence Brady was remarkable. He was in the soda house with Engineer Flynn at the time of the explosion. The men were blown through the building and landed on the roof of the adjoining magazine. This exploded instantly and Brady and Flynn, the latter badly injured, were thrown a hundred feet from the building. Flynn suffered internal injuries and inhaled poisonous fumes. His condition is precarious. Brady escaped practically unscathed. Brady's wife of three months, in his residence a mile from the works, was badly cut by broken glass and bruised by falling debris.

That the powder in the plant was being rushed through on a hurry order from the government for use in the Texas frontier was denied last night by Superintendent Brady.

When daylight gave a clear view of the ruins it was seen that the fire was out. Three holes marked the sites where three of the magazines had stood. The holes were each more than fifty feet across and as deep. One had broken into a spring and was half full of water.

Part of the engine house and the hundred foot brick chimney of the plant still stand.

Village Without Cooks.

The village is almost completely without women and the men here went hungry. Not only most of the stores were blown down and broken up, but the supply of food is so scattered to be of little avail.

The district schoolhouse near the village was wrecked. It was not necessary to dismiss school, however, for of the forty-five pupils all but a half dozen either were too injured to attend or had moved with their parents during the night to places of safety.

A steel cylinder thought to have been used in the glazing room was hurled through the air and crashed through the roof of the general store two miles away, tearing a hole five feet in diameter through the roof, the first and second floor and into the earth. H. A. King, in an adjoining room, was thrown to the floor unconscious by the shock. Roads and fields in the vicinity are strewn with hundreds, some of which weigh several hundred pounds.

In spite of the tremendous force of

POST LIGHTS TO RUN INTO MONEY NOT PREPARING TO TAKE FIELD

Plan is Expensive; Matter Will Be Threshed Out Today.

Local Guard Officers Deny Knowledge of Orders Coming.

MEETING IS HELD ARE EAGER FOR CALL

At a meeting scheduled for this afternoon members of the board of public works submitted to committees from the Commercial club, the retail merchants and the Civic Improvement association the data it has gathered regarding the cost of ornamental street lighting. The board had a line of information on tap when the meeting opened. There are a number of blueprints showing the posts and the lights and Frank Dix, city electrician has figures to show just how much each light will cost and the voltage that will be necessary to keep the system going no matter which is adopted.

He made an estimate showing that it would cost about $864 a square to equip the posts and put them up but he is prepared now to go into the finer details. Chairman Frank Benoy thinks that five-lamp posts on the corners with three on the intervening posts will be ample. He thinks that top lights of sixty watts and lower lamps of 100 watts will be sufficient. The city will pay for the current and it will take an immense amount of it for the ornamental system.

Members of the board were convinced when they went into session that the whole matter could be threshed out and an agreement reached so that the posts and lamps can be ordered and the work of installing them begun.

Will Look Over Ground.

The board of works at its session last night received an application from the Abbott Sanitarium company for permission to lay a six-inch water pipe from the Nickel Plate right-of-way to the Beach property at Berry and Lafayette streets. This is to take care of a line that will be run from the Abbott well in the east end to the lot on which a new sanitarium will be erected at a cost of $100,000.

This well has wonderful curative powers and on two occasions have buildings erected at the wells been destroyed by fire. It is proposed to put in one of the finest institutions in the state and the right to lay a pipe along the railroad tracks from the wells to the city has already been procured. The board will investigate the proposition.

The officers of the new company are Dr. C. B. Stemen, president; Dr. A. H. MacBeth, secretary-treasurer, and

ARMY ENLISTMENTS HEAVY.

The fact that the government is sending troops to the Mexican border is having its effect on enlistments at the local recruiting station and Thursday Sergeant Soller, the officer in charge of the station, broke all records by enlisting five men during the afternoon. Those who enlisted were: Frank Brown, Fort Wayne, infantry; Arthur Murphy, Huntington, who has served two enlistments in the Fourteenth Infantry, re-enlisting for the Seventeenth Infantry, stationed at Fort McPherson, Georgia; G. A. Howe, Ray, cavalry; Smith J. Hicks, Webbville, Ky., coast artillery, and John R. Watson, Columbia City, infantry. Sergeant Soller will go to Angola on a canvas for recruits Saturday.

CLOSE SWITCHBOARD CONTRACT.

The Home Telephone and Telegraph company has just closed a contract with W. M. Griffin for a thirty line switchboard to be installed for the Kidd Medical company, at Fairfield avenue and the Pennsylvania tracks. A number of these switchboards are already in use among several of the larger manufacturing concerns of the city.

MAIL CARRIER

MEETS DEATH

Harrison Coe is Run Down by a Freight Train at Albion, Dying Instantly.

Albion, Ind., March 10.—Harrison Coe, aged 72 years, veteran mail carrier and pioneer resident of Noble county, met with a tragic death here Wednesday evening when he was struck and killed by a freight train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad about 7:45 o'clock.

There were no witnesses to the accident, but several citizens were on the scene soon after the fatality and picked up his lifeless form which was taken to the Bonham morgue. Dr. Hayes, the company's physician, was called and upon examination found his head badly mangled and a number of ugly wounds on the right side of his face, indicating that death was probably instantaneous.

He was employed by the government in carrying the mail from the postoffice to the depot, which position he had faithfully held for the past ten years. He was on duty when he met his death, having just taken down the mail for the eastbound passenger train due at Albion at 8:05 o'clock, and was just starting on his return home when in some unknown manner he was struck by the rapidly approaching freight.

For the past thirty years he has resided at Albion and for more than half a century has been a resident of this county, coming here from New York, where he was born. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Jennie, and two sons, Perry and Henry.

HELPED HIMSELF.

Night Clerk of Hotel Nearly Gets Away With Cash and Cigars.

Decatur, Ind., March 10.—A young man named Britten, who came here a week ago from Fort Wayne and accepted a position as night clerk at the Murray hotel, caused some excitement at midnight Tuesday night, when he robbed the register of something over twenty dollars, helped himself to a quantity of cigars, exact number unknown, and skipped. The fact was first discovered by the night porter who reported the matter to Mr. Murray and quick action was taken. Employees of the hotel were sent to the various depots and the day porter, Jim McFarland, who went to the G. R. & I., located the man and took him in tow. The clerk, to evade arrest, returned the stolen money and was allowed to go free. He left for parts unknown. Wednesday a number of the cigars were also returned, he having left them at the depot. The young man expected to take the northbound train and was found just in time to save the cash.

CARD WAS MAILED IN '98.

It Arrived at Destination After Years of Wandering.

Wabash, Ind., March 10.—On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. D. A. Pike, 153 West Sinclair street, received a postal card which was much the same as any other postal card in appearance. It was neatly addressed and looked as though it might have been given over to the postman an hour before its delivery.

However, the card was just reaching its destination thirteen years after it had been mailed. When the card was dropped into the letter box at the Pike home it created some surprise when pulled forth inasmuch as it was addressed to Miss Eva Beck, Mrs. Pike's maiden name. Had Mrs. Pike just been married the wrong address would not have caused any surprise, but after almost thirteen years of wedded life she is free to confess that she was a trifle perplexed when she received a communication so addressed.

LAFONTAINE MAN

ACCUSED OF ARSON

Said to Have Set Fire to Hotel in Order to Defraud the Insurance Company.

Wabash, Ind., March 10.—Arthur Wingard, a resident of the southern part of the county, was arrested by Sheriff Freeman yesterday, on a warrant issued following the filing of an affidavit by Theodore Stein, charging him with arson.

According to the complaint Wingard is accused of having burned the Lafontaine hotel last September. The hotel was a three-story structure owned by John A. Schuster and the loss from the fire is placed at $1,000.

The accused is said to have burned the building to defraud and prejudice the German Fire Insurance company, which concern had a policy on the hotel.

Unable to give bond Wingard was brought to Wabash and placed in the county jail where he will remain until his trial is called in the circuit court.

PIG PLAYS HAVOC.

Unruly Swine Inflicts Severe Injuries on Farmer.

Liberty Center, Ind., March 10.—Charles Kringle, living north of town, met with a very painful and peculiar accident while "ringing" hogs at his home Wednesday afternoon. The twist had just been placed on the nose of one of the vicious animals, when it gave a lunge, throwing the twist, which struck Mr. Kringle in the mouth.

Both sets of false teeth worn by the farmer were broken by the blow he received and his mouth and lips were also badly lacerated. A physician was hurriedly summoned and he found it necessary to take several stitches to close the wounds. The injuries were very painful to Mr. Kringle, but Wednesday night he rested well and it is thought nothing serious will result.

RECEIVED TROPHIES.

Kendallville Nimrod Has Victim's Heads Mounted.

Kendallville, Ind., March 10.—Henry Kimmel has received five beautiful deer heads and one large mouse head which he procured while on his recent forty-three day hunting trip in Maine. The heads are all well mounted and the taxidermist who had charge of the mounting did it excellently. Mr. Kimmel had intended giving the heads but to his children for Christmas presents, but although they were late in getting here, it is still his intention of presenting each of them with a deer head, while he himself will keep the mouse, which he will mount in the office of the Kendallville laundry. The mouse which he shot, weighed considerably over a thousand pounds.

KENDALLVILLE AN ONION TOWN.

Approximately 450 Carloads of Onions Shipped This Season.

Kendallville, Ind., March 10.—The important part which Kendallville plays in satisfying the appetite of American people for onions is evident from the fact that approximately 450 cars of the vegetables have been shipped to various cities over the country during the last fall and winter seasons. Figuring 500 bushels to the car, there were 225,000 bushels shipped from local storage houses, which is an exceptionally large number, considering the fact that the crop in this part of the state was short.

GOT THE FIRST DRUNK.

Kendallville, Ind., March 10.—Charles E. Baker, a harness maker, was the first man since the return of the wagon to be arrested for intoxication. He was arrested yesterday morning by Marshal Boggs on Main street and taken to the city jail where he slept off his jag. He was arraigned before Mayor Field in the afternoon and pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $5 and costs, which amounted to $10.

GIRL A BRIDE AT 16.

Hartford City, Ind., March 10.—A marriage license was granted late Wednesday afternoon to Edward O. Reading, 21, Newcastle, cabinetmaker, and Edith Maselle, 16, daughter of James Maselle, Hartford City moulder. The bride being a minor it was necessary for the father to accompany her to the clerk's office and give his consent to the issuance of a license.

STORE IS "SWAPPED."

Montpelier, Ind., March 10.—By a deal made Wednesday Morris Edris traded a general store which he recently acquired at Keystone from Martz & DeWeese to John Phillips, a farmer, living north of Bluffton. Phillips traded a farm of eighty acres to Edris in the deal. When Edris secured the store he traded a 150-acre farm in Jackson county to Martz & DeWeese.

QUIET WEDDING.

Columbia City, Ind., March 10.—Wednesday evening at five o'clock at the residence of Rev. Shaffer, on Chauncey street, occurred the wedding of Miss Frances McLain to Roscoe Mead. The wedding was a very quiet affair none being present except a few of the friends of the contracting parties.

TO TEACH AT EARLHAM.

Cures Rheumatism.

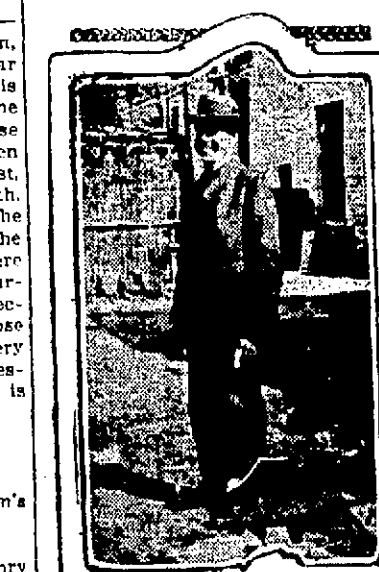

If It Don't You Can Get Your Money Back, Says Meyer Bros. Co. Now when Meyer Bros. Co. the well known druggists, make such an offer as that, where, oh, where, is the man or woman full of Uric Acid poison, which is the same as rheumatism, who is going to turn it down?

Meyer Bros. Co. have sold a whole lot of Rheuma these last few months, and if it didn't do as advertised they couldn't afford to make the offer.

Here is more proof: Porter Smith, Dobbin, W. Va., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism for about 26 years, and the disease had become chronic. I began taking Rheuma with little faith in its virtues, but was better from the first day I began its use, and at this time have no more pains."—Feb. 20, 1910.

Rheuma never shirks its duty. It begins with the first dose to act on the kidneys, liver, stomach and blood, and to eliminate Rheumatic poison from the whole system. 50 cents at Meyer Bros. Co.'s or mailed by Rheuma Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Send for free trial bottle.

RICH INVENTOR OF STICKY FLYPAPER

WILLIAM THUM

Pasadena, Cal., March 10.—Opulent Pasadena, said to be the home of more millionaires than any city of its size in the world, has a candidate for its next mayor who is one of its kind in William Thum, who gained fame and fortune by inventing sticky fly paper.

The rise of Thum Brothers in the field of finance reads like a fairy tale. A few years ago the three brothers, William, Ferdinand and Oscar, descendants of German-Jewish parents, ran a little drug store in Grand Rapids, Mich. One day an old man who spent much time in the Thum drug store suggested the idea of some kind of sticky fly paper that would not dry in the sun and which would hold Madam Fly, when caught, until she died.

The idea appealed to the young Thums. They shut themselves in their laboratory for months and experimented until they found a solution of the problem. It worked to perfection and they had it patented. It took like wild fire, and the Thums began to make money faster than they ever dreamed money could be made outside of a mint.

ONLY ONE

There is only one drug store in this city where you can get a genuine specific for kidney disease. This is a strong statement, but we are prepared to prove it.

Here's the point: the census deaths show that of the tens of thousands annually dying from kidney trouble that over nine-tenths (to be accurate, 92 out of every one hundred of them) sooner or later assumed the form, technically known to physicians as "Bright's Disease," although it is commonly called "kidney trouble" in the homes. It is known to those in the drug trade that Bright's Disease has been incurable up to a recent discovery, and as we have the monopoly of that discovery for this city we have the only specific for kidney disease in this city.

In view of the census showing that over nine-tenths of all the census kidney cases sooner or later take this form, how under the sun can people who have kidney trouble expect to get well except through this specific?

If you have kidney trouble our store is the only one in this city that has a genuine specific effective in nearly nine-tenths of all cases. In fact, if you will put the question skillfully to our competitors and ask them if they have a genuine cure for Bright's Disease they won't even claim to you they have, for the books admit there has been none.

We sent a long way for this for kidney-troubled people.

Call and get literature and let us tell you all about it.

It can be had in Fort Wayne at the D. & N. Pharmacy.

PROVES DIRECT VOTE IS NEEDED.

The state of New York affords an object lesson for the instruction of the United States senate when it meets next month and among other things sets about to consider the election of United States senators by direct vote. For now near three months the deadlock has continued because certain controllable elements of the majority in the legislature cannot or dare not break away from the candidate rammed down the throat of the caucus. An abundance of notably strong and acceptable timber is to be had for the succession to Senator Dewey, but until the bonds of the caucus and the strangle hold Charlie Murphy has on the state and assembly organizations of the democratic party can be broken one of the good men have a chance.

William F. Sheehan, the caucus nominee, would develop no strength in a canvass of the people. Indeed, had he to go before the people his candidacy never would have been projected. The democratic insurgents have held hard against Murphy and Sheehan and after near three months of the struggle show no sign of weakening. Unless there be a break somewhere, the extra session of congress will come and go and the greatest state in the Union will have been but half represented in the senate. Of course, it is urged that the insurgents are a very small minority of the major party in the legislature and should acquiesce in what the most of their party associates have chosen. That reason once was potent in politics, but it has lost its force. Men who have sense of responsibility to the people they represent desire to acquit themselves to the approval of public sentiment. There is no public sentiment for Mr. Sheehan.

Direct vote would long ago have settled the New York senatorship by sending a man approved of the people clean-handed and unbossed to Washington.

COLONEL HARVEY EXPOSES F.A.T.E.

In the North American Review for the current month Colonel George Harvey, the editor, demonstrates and proves that if William Howard Taft becomes the nominee next year of the republican party for president it must follow that Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, will become the democratic nominee. By all the facts of history and the precedents of national situations in seventy years of partisan conflicts, by all the arguments logical, physiological, psychological and ethnological, by circumstances active and potential, by the theory of limits and the ratio of probabilities, by force dynamic—meaning Colonel George Harvey—and by force static—meaning Big Bill Taft—Woodrow Wilson will be nominated for the presidency and elected, too. Colonel Harvey has it all figured out with as much nicety as the itinerary of a comet or the occultation of a star. He establishes it in straight matter, in diagrams, in tabulations. He shows that it is so by much that has happened, by more that has not happened. You cannot escape the conclusion. It will be Woodrow Wilson or planetary cataclysm. Failure of such a predestination to deliver the goods and get a receipt can mean only a wreck of matter and crash of worlds. And Colonel Harvey, having noted to the public the inescapable, the inevitable, the foreordained, can pivot around to his desk and begin to draw a war map for the guidance of Harpers' Weekly in case Colonel Bryan should decide that three good turns deserve another and take it.

If the poolrooms cannot exist without the patronage of boys, that fact spells out a convincing and sufficient reason for police intervention continued and drastic. There is an example every day or two before the bar of the city court of the finished handiwork of the poolrooms. The poolrooms doubtless do not make all the boy thieves that fall into the hands of the police, but that they make any is enough to put them under condemnation of society and the ban of the law. And in this connection it is a singular instance of official remissness that for all the wholesale and long continued violation of the law forbidding keepers of pool and billiard tables to allow minors to play or loiter in their resorts there have been no prosecutions. This is not because the keepers have not known who were and who were not minors. They have known. The patronage of minors has been consistently and openly encouraged and fostered. The trade of boys has been flagrantly bid for and no questions asked as to where they got their money.

Governor Marshall's appointment of Hon. John B. Stoll, editor of the South Bend Times, to be trustee of the Indiana prison has very generally and strongly commended itself to the press and the people of the state. A happier selection could not have been made, both in the point of desert and in the matter of fitness for a place of so many responsibilities. Mr. Stoll is a man of broad mind, of deep humanity and of intimate knowledge of society's strength and weakness, its needs and its means. The Indiana prison will have greater usefulness to the state and render truer service to the institution's inmates for Mr. Stoll's membership upon its governing board. Governor Marshall could not possibly have made a better appointment.

Before George Gould lets go the Wabash road we trust he will exact it to be solemnly covenanted with him that his dear old deepo in Fort Wayne Indiana shall never, no never, be disturbed, its antique beauty marred by improvements, its hoary splendor disfigured by more than an occasional coat of red paint, its ancient sanctity profaned by the godless hands of wreckers and builders. We want our little old Wabash deepo always with us.

The army is making notably better time getting itself together than it did back in the dismal days of ninety-eight before the fighting with Spain gave happy relief to a situation that had looked ominous to this country. Whether the romp to the Mexican border is a real crisis or device by which to prove that it could be done if the need were, it is some rebate of the expense to know that it was possible.

The cost of living having come off its perch a comfortable bit, the reform radicals in state assemblies are centering their fire on the hobble and harem skirts. Which goes somewhat to show that it doesn't make much difference what it is. The genius of the American lawmaker is equal to anything that happens to be going by.

Senor Diaz may not be dead in the mortuary sense of that term, but a good deal of news is beginning to sidestep the censor that he is at least dead like quite a squad of eminent standpatters and old guardsmen in this fair, free land are dead. And that is dead enough.

The doughty colonel will arrive on the borderland about simultaneously with the invasion of our friendly neighbor's domain. And how's he going to keep himself out of it? However, as he probably isn't, that thought can be filed for future anxiety.

Now, if Mr. Lorimer had resigned, there probably would not have been such incontinent and extra-constitutional haste by the vice president to make him eat his words.

The Mexican government is swallowing the whole spectacular affair very much like a pill it had compounded itself.

UNDERWOOD OF ALABAMA.

(Kansas City Times.)

With the exception of Champ Clark, of Missouri, the man likely to achieve greatest distinction as a result of the overthrow of the republican majority in the house is Representative Underwood, of the Ninth Alabama district. As chairman of the new ways and means committee, Mr. Underwood will have charge of the tariff legislation, which will be the most important work undertaken in the extra session. The sittings of this committee will begin almost immediately, and the bill it frames will be known as the Underwood bill.

Underwood is serving his ninth consecutive term as representative. He is a native of Kentucky and an alumnus of the University of Virginia. His home is in Birmingham, one of the biggest industrial centers of the south, where protection has become largely "naturalized," in spite of traditional hostility of democracy and its solid south to the doctrine. Because of his constituency, including many interested in iron and steel industries, there has been considerable speculation as to the kind and extent of revision Underwood may favor.

Heretofore the leaders of democratic tariff legislation have not fared well at home. If the case of Roger Q. Mills, of Texas, be excepted, Morrison, Springer and Wilson suffered political reverses. But times have changed much even since Wilson's time. The people want tariff revision, and the demand is no longer confined to the democratic party. The man who leads in that direction is likely to fare much better at home or at large than have Payne and Aldrich, who, though having constituencies too strongly republican for reversal, suffered rebuke for their standpat policies in defiance of party pledges.

HOW WOMEN VOTE.

(New York Evening Post.)

That the recall of the mayor of Seattle was chiefly brought about by the votes of recently enfranchised women seems to be conceded; and the statement is made that their disapproval of Mayor Gill was based largely upon his alleged toleration of vicious resorts and his appointment of a notoriously unfit chief of police. If the facts are as stated, they go to show that one of the arguments for woman suffrage has some validity. It is that women will insist more strongly than men upon the moral quality in municipal administration. It would be rash to judge by a single instance; and the difficulty of making a moral issue absolutely clear to women voters might often prove as great as in the case of their husbands and sons. But there can be no doubt that the result in Seattle will be pointed to as strongly supporting one of the claims of the suffragists. The case will surely be used in the coming campaign in Kansas, the legislature of that state having now passed a resolution submitting to the voters an amendment of the constitution conferring the ballot upon women.

FIGHT AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS.

(The Survey.)

The most rapid gain of any kind is in New York state, where from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15 seven counties took favorable action on providing institutions—an average of two county hospitals every week for that month. The combined appropriations for the seven hospitals are over $200,000. When the association began its work three years ago only three counties out of the fifty-seven in the state made any institutional provision for consumptives. Today there are twenty-two county hospitals and several other counties with small populations are arranging for boarding their consumptives in the institutions of neighboring counties. These institutions have cost to date over one and one-half million dollars. At least five more county hospitals, and increase of other provisions for consumptives are expected at the January meetings of the county boards of supervisors, and the outlook seems bright for realizing the association's terse program. "No cure for tuberculosis in 1915."

SUFFRAGE CAUSE PROGRESSES.

(Baltimore American.)

The cause is winning the west, and the east will have to capitulate. The Kansas senate has just placed its O. K. upon the submission to the people of a proposed amendment to give votes to women in that state. Everywhere in the west the same forces are at work. The Seattle victory will count for more than a thousand appeals. Success was out, and the women have taken the breath out of the men by their ability to gauge a situation, to discover and apply the remedy. A ballot body blow for the right can always be counted upon when the time comes that women shall have the power generally that has been so deftly used by the women in Seattle.

POLICE CHIEF WAS A FUGITIVE

THOMAS E. STRIPLING, OR "R. E. MORRIS" CHIEF OF DANVILLE POLICE.

Danville, Va., March 10.—Before he was taken to Atlanta, Ga., to serve out a life sentence for murder, Edgar Stripling, who as Robert Morris served several years as Danville's chief of police, gave out a carefully prepared statement which recites the incidents leading up to the murder, which took place in the fall of 1897.

The statement asserts that Cornett, the murdered man, was shot in a public road and not through a window, as alleged. Stripling says that he and his brother-in-law, Terrell Hough, who was with him, at once surrendered.

"About a year after the shooting and while in the local prison in the fall of 1908," the statement says, "a negro murderer who was confined in the

TELLS HOW SHE SUFFERED TERRIBLE AGONY FROM STOMACH DISEASE.

"I would have long since been numbered with those who have passed away if it had not been for M-I-O-N-A, which I used for stomach disease that had bothered me for over seven years.

The doctors told me I had cancer of the stomach and their treatment was of no benefit, but when I used M-I-O-N-A I received at first relief, and later on a cure.

I had terrible pains and cramps in my stomach especially in the morning, my food did not digest, but stayed in my stomach and fermented. The trouble made me weak and so depressed that I trembled and shook. I was nervous and run down.

One year ago last spring I used M-I-O-N-A and I was soon cured by it, there has been no serious return of the ailments, therefore I give M-I-O-N-A the full credit for the cure.

FOUR DRUG STORES.

Testing an Egg. "Really, Jane," remonstrated her mistress, "you must learn to be more careful and test the eggs before you mix them in the pudding. Now, a good way of testing is to take an egg in your hand, swing it around a few times and then place it to your ear. If it gives out a pleasant, murmuring sound you may then be quite sure that it is fresh and good."

Like a dutiful cook Jane promised in future to obey her mistress's instructions, and that same night there was hot baked custard for dinner.

At least there was to have been hot baked custard. But at the crucial moment Jane appeared upon the scene with nothing to show but a tear stained face.

"Well, Jane?" anxiously inquired her mistress.

"Please, mum," gasped the saddened servant, "there's a little something gone wrong. I was a-testin' the egg, as you told me, and a-swingin' it round when it slipped out of my hand, and blessed if it didn't bif the policeman in the eye as he was watchin' me through the window. An', please, mum," concluded the cook, breaking down utterly, "I think it was a good egg, too, for I listened and I heard a murmurin'—oh, quite a loud murmurin', mum."—Tit-Bits.

THE FATNESS OF HEALTH.

Samose Fills Out the Curves and Makes Thin People Fat

If you are thin, your health is not what it should be. If you are losing weight steadily there is something wrong that should be attended to at once. You cannot be healthy and strong if you are thin.

Perfect health and good, solid beautiful flesh can only come through the use of Samose, the remarkable flesh-forming food.

This makes the thin and scrawny plump and robust; it mixes with the food so that all of the elements that make solid bone, firm muscle and good flesh are thoroughly assimilated and retained in the system.

Samose is not a drug or a stimulant; it is a scientific flesh-forming food that restores thin people to a normal condition of good healthy flesh.

These statements are confirmed by Meyer Bros. Co., who offer to refund the money to anyone buying and using Samose who does not gain in weight as promised. The risk is all theirs. The thin and scrawny can buy Samose at Meyer Bros. Co.'s store with the knowledge that if it is not successful it will cost absolutely nothing.

Either one of its two unique features would make this umbrella one to be chosen in preference to others. Better prepare for

IN THE CITY'S CHURCHES

PLAN A UNION OF SOCIETIES

Epworth Leaguers and the Christian Endeavorers to Affiliate in Work.

MEETING TO BE HELD

The City Epworth League Union will hold a meeting this evening at the First M. E. church at which a matter of considerable importance will be discussed and probably some definite action taken. It is a plan for co-operating in certain lines of religious work with the City Christian Endeavor Union and the formation of a city union society of the two organizations. The plan has been under consideration for some time by both of the organizations and has met with favor. It contemplates a new name for this joint organization and a distinctive set of officers. Such a union has features that will do much for the advancement of religious work among the young people and it is altogether probable it will be perfected. To the meeting to be held this evening all Epworth Leaguers are invited and representatives from each of the societies will be present.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS

Addressed Saturday Afternoon by One of State Officers

Miss Hazel Lewis, of Indianapolis, who is the state superintendent of the elementary work of the Indiana Sunday School association, arrived in the city this afternoon and is the guest at the home of Mrs. M. A. Mason. She comes to make preliminary arrangements regarding the work of her department at the state Sunday school convention to be held in Fort Wayne in June of this year. For this purpose she will meet the Sunday school workers of the city at the Plymouth Congregational church Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at which time it has been arranged to tender her a reception. Miss Lewis will deliver an address. All the Sunday school workers in the city are invited to attend this meeting. The reception committee for the occasion is from the different churches and includes Messrs. R. J. Griswold, H. G. Hiller, C. O. Shirey, A. K. Zartman, C. M. Chambers, D. W. Underwood, A. Z. Polhamus, J. Grosjean, Martha Wolford and the Misses Mary Gordon, Mary Theis and Anna Biddle.

AUXILIARY MEETINGS.

Juniors and Seniors of Episcopal Church Meet With Miss Edgerton.

At the regular Lenten weekly meetings of the Junior Auxiliary at 2:30 and the Senior Auxiliary at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow with Miss Edgerton of West Wayne street the annual election of officers will be held.

A Penny Supper.

The ladies of the English Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will give a penny supper Saturday in the basement rooms of the church from 5 to 8 p. m. Only a penny will be charged for each article served.

Lenten Services.

Lenten services will be held this evening in all the Catholic churches of the city and sermons preached by the pastors.

PA IS UP AGAINST IT.

WHEN pa came home the other night he had a paper there. That told about a husbandette somebody had somewhere. Ma tried to not let on at first she'd read about the case. But pa picked up the sheet and saw where she had marked the place. She watched him while he read it through. Before that I'd or bet. Most anything I had that pa was not a husbandette.

He laid the paper down at last and glared at ma awhile.

And lifted up his eyebrows in a very haughty style.

"So that's the kind of stuff you read!" he said to ma at last.

"You'd better change your habit, and you'd better change it fast!"

At home's a decent woman's place. Just keep that in your mind.

These suffragettes are a disgrace to gentle womanhood."

Ma stood and listened patiently, without a word to say.

Till pa got almost out of breath and let him talk away.

He said if women ever won the right to cast a vote.

He'd think the ship of state had got to be a leaky boat.

And all the time he talked the worse his anger seemed to get.

You could have seen he had no use for any suffragette.

At last when ma could get a chance she started in to speak.

I couldn't tell you all she said if I would take a week.

She told us how pa had forgot to register last fall.

And when he tried to interrupt she wouldn't stop at all.

She picked the paper up where pa had flung it on the floor.

And read about men selling votes, and then she talked some more.

She asked pa what he'd ever done to show that he was great.

And spoke about the night before when he was out so late.

She told us how pa didn't know some things pa didn't know she knew.

He kind of shrunk down in his chair and seemed to tremble, too.

And when the argument was done pa's brow was kind of wet.

Since then somehow it looks as though he was a husbandette.

Sunday School Workers Coming Attend Their State Convention.

THE MEETING PLACES

Rev. P. J. Albertus, who is the chairman of the general arrangement committee for the State Sunday school convention to be held in this city June 8, 9, 10 and 11, has received a letter from George M. Burnie, the state secretary of the Indiana Sunday School association, approving of the arrangements made by the local committee for the different meeting places. The First Baptist church has been chosen as the convention church. There the general business sessions of the convention will be held. Branch meetings will be held in other churches. The elementary advance department will hold its sessions at the Plymouth Congregational church, the adult conferences at the Christ Lutheran church, the missionary, temperance, and home departments at the St. John's Reformed, and special meetings for men on Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church.

the explosion and the fact that nearly every one who was within ten miles of the factory when it occurred was injured, in not more than a half dozen cases were the injuries severe.

Hardly a House Habitable.

Hardly a house in the thickly populated farming country in a radius of five miles from Pleasant Prairie is habitable today. The greater number of residents of this village and the surrounding farming country have packed their remaining household goods and moved away until their homes are rebuilt.

The five magazines which exploded last night contained 150 tons finished dynamite, 120 tons dynamite unfinished, 8,000 kags finished giant powder and 25,000 kags unfinished giant powder.

There are eight small cars of dynamite stored on a spur near the plant today, according to Sheriff Stahl. Supt. Bumstead refused to state the amount of powder in the buildings, but said three wheel mills, one powder building and twenty smaller store buildings all contain explosives in some quantity.

The main offices of the Dupont company are in Wilmington, Del., and as soon as the (telegraph) office opened today local officials received positive orders to make no statements as to the cause or nature of the explosion, the amount of powder destroyed or the amount still in magazines. The company has had trouble with residents of Kenosha county following previous explosions. Two years ago a suit brought against the company on the ground that it was a public menace was won by the company.

The explosion involved hundreds of tons of powder stored in the powder plant at Pleasant Prairie. Besides the loss to the two villages, every farm-house within a radius of five miles suffered damage and sometimes complete destruction.

The escape of all of the eighteen men except one, who were at work at the powder plant when the explosion occurred was considered almost miraculous, as every one of the buildings of the big plant was blown to atoms. E. S. Thompson, 50 years old, is the only employee who was not accounted for last night, and he is believed to be dead. He was familiarly known about the plant as "the old man."

Scores Slightly Injured.

Scores of people sustained minor injuries as a result of the explosion and deputy sheriffs are patrolling the territory about the ruined plant to protect people from going near it. For this reason there was no chance to get absolutely definite information from the plant last night.

Charles Brady, superintendent of the plant, escaped with slight injuries and the other men employees—excepting Thompson—had remarkable escapes from death.

Seventeen of the men, burned and bleeding, lined up outside the ruins of the wheel-house into the air, and it was then noticed that Thompson was missing. Thompson was in the glaze mill at the time of the explosion and Edward Hilliard was with him. By some miracle Hilliard escaped.

Men Thrown in the Air.

The men working in the soda house, some distance from the place where the first explosion occurred, were thrown into the air; several of them alighting on the office of the plant. These men, charred by the burning powder, crawled on their hands and knees to safety. They managed first to fight their way through the flames and twisted machinery that littered the ground to the village.

The conditions were such that no one could approach the burning mills, which cover many acres of land, and the men in charge of the plant declared an hour after the explosion, that it would be impossible to go near the ruins of the plant until this morning.

"A Fearful Colored Fire."

Supt. Brady, who was in the soda-house with other men at the time of the first explosion, declared he had no solution for the accident.

"The first I knew was when simultaneously with a deafening report I was flung into the air many feet," he said. "A second report came almost as I fell crumpled up on the ground. I crawled away and another, and another explosion—in all five—came, while the whole territory covered by the plant seemed to be one sheet of fearful colored fire.

"It is a miracle that we were not all blown to atoms. I don't know how far we were blown, maybe forty or fifty feet, and every man in the soda-house escaped alive, although some are badly burned. I have no idea what house the first explosion occurred in or its cause. The plant is a total loss, and it could not be replaced short of $1,000,000."

The loss to other property in Kenosha county is estimated as high as $500,000.

Lifted Through the Roof.

"I don't know how it happened," said Hilliard. "I was lifted it seemed right through the roof and I have no idea what became of Thompson. It seems that he would have got away if any of us did, for he has been a powder man for years and has gone through many explosions unharmed."

Employees of the mill denied a report that a number of Hungarians and foreigners had been killed while at work in the plant and insisted that all but the one man had been accounted for among the men at the plant.

Not a House Stands in the Village.

The actual village of Pleasant Prairie, a scant quarter of a mile south of the big powder plant, was demolished. Houses were crushed and torn to splinters. Men and women ran terrified and screaming to the streets while the timbers fell about them.

Not a residence or building in the village was left standing. Here and there the strongest ones stood up in unshapely fashion, ready to totter to the ground, but for the most part only piles of ruins marked the places where cottages and stores had stood.

Residents of the village rushed to the rescue of the men they knew were at work at the plant, while appeals for help were sent to Kenosha, nine miles away.

LAW IS CONSTITUTIONAL

Indianapolis, March 10.—Under the laws of 1869, which gives quarries, mines, etc., the right to condemn property to build a railroad less than ten miles in length, the state supreme court today decided a case, appealed from Decatur company, in favor of a stone quarry company, which sought to build a railroad connecting two quarries. It is the first time the supreme court had been called upon to pass upon the law and today held it constitutional.

English Statesmen Clash in Debate Over Land Clauses in Budget.

London, March 10.—After a continuous sitting of nineteen hours the house of commons rose at 10 o'clock this morning. A stormy scene marked the session right up to the close.

The whole night was occupied with the discussion of the land clauses of the budget and the debate was the most bitter that has been heard in the lower chamber in ten years.

Taunts and insults were hurled fast and furiously, anger flared up dangerously and at one moment a riot was threatened when in the midst of an excited demonstration on the part of the nationalists, Capt. James Craig, unionist member for the east division of Down, sprang to his feet and, addressing the chairman, remarked that if the presiding officer would give the word the opposition would gladly throw the whole nationalist party out of the house.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Will H. Carter, of West Main street, entertained twenty-five ladies at a sewing party this afternoon at her home. After an hour or so spent in visiting and sewing the hostess invited her guests to the dining-room which had been prettily decorated with pink roses and smilax. Refreshments were served and they contributed still further to the pleasure of the guests. Mrs. Harry Doswell, Mrs. John Jackson, Mrs. Charles Carter and Mrs. H. L. Reed assisted the hostess during the supper hour.

Mrs. F. G. Gauntt entertained players for six tables at bridge this afternoon. This was the second party Mrs. Gauntt has given this week. Spring flowers and blossoming plants lent a share of pleasure to the guests at this pretty affair and refreshments after the card playing by no means proved the least delight of the afternoon.

Invitations were issued today to a dance which the young men belonging to the Assembly dancing list will give on Easter Monday, April 17. The dance is to be a complimentary one to the members of the Embroidery club whose efforts for several seasons in arousing interest in and attending to arrangements for the series of dancing parties called the Assemblies have deserved of so graceful an attention as it is proposed to show them. The ball will be given at the Anthony hotel and Ashbaugh's orchestra will furnish the music. The men in charge of the dance are Rob Fox, John Hoffman, Charles Reuss, James L. Taylor, Jr., and Harry Hattersley.

Mrs. Charles Grosvenor, of Fulton street, will be the hostess for the Asher House club next Wednesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Olds, of Northwalk, O., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson, of South Hanna street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gruber, of 2724 South Hanna street, have as their guest, Clay Barr, of Mt. Pleasant, O.

Mrs. Guy Ludwig entertained the officers of the W. C. T. U., at her home yesterday.

Miss Laura Sikes of Minneapolis, who was at one time librarian of the children's department in this city, was a guest for a few hours here yesterday. Miss Sikes was on her way home from a visit in the east.

Mrs. Charles G. Pape and Miss Anna Hobrock united in giving a farewell party on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Carl Hobrock, who will soon leave for Detroit. Miss Ada Anweiler, of Monroe, Mich., was a guest from out of town.

Miss Bertha Gerlach gave a shower of linen gifts and entertained a company of young ladies on Wednesday evening in honor of her sister, Miss Lena Gerlach, who is to be married soon. The young woman lives in Winter street and the party was at their home. Games and music were enjoyed and the prizes were given to the bride-elect. All spent a happy time.

Master George Ellison, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ellison, celebrated his ninth birthday anniversary on Wednesday afternoon after school by entertaining a few of his classmates. Games were enjoyed until 6 o'clock and then Mrs. Ellison served the children with a fine supper. There were present William and Leroy Eckert, Ernest and Gilbert Barks, Russell and Theodore Carmer, John Schultheis and Harold Vardman.

Miss Gertrude Seely celebrated her natal anniversary last evening by entertaining friends at her home. The guests were members of Lawton Wayne post, of which order Miss Seely is the adopted daughter. The house was prettily decorated with patriotic colors. The entertainment of the evening consisted of music, talks by comrades and an address by Rev. T. M. Hill. During the evening Comrade Geary presented Miss Seely with a handsome remembrance from the post. A supper was served during the evening by Miss Seely with the assistance

RAISED WAIST LINES.

By MRS. JANE FORD.

6 SIZES 32 TO 42 BUST

The spring openings reveal many lovely dress models cut and draped in unique ways, but the striking feature in almost every gown is the raised waist line. This extremely stylish mode of cutting the waist short and the skirt high is liked by many because it gives a youthful figure, and if the line is properly adjusted, is becoming to almost every one. Pictured is an especially smart cloth model, intended for wear without a coat. It was developed in a soft, clear shade of dark blue broadcloth, and trimmed with soutache braid.

The simplicity of this dress makes it particularly interesting to the girl who does her own sewing. The body portion will be no more difficult to put together and fit than an ordinary shirt waist. Panels at the back and front of the skirt give a graceful line that is most becoming to stout figures, and darts shape the goods to the hips at each side. The sleeves are tailored in effect, which is in keeping with the rest of the frock, and a removable yoke can be finished either with or without the standing collar. It can be of tub goods, which will add much to the usefulness of the garment.

Those who are about to copy this dress will be interested to know that it requires only five and one-half yards of thirty-six inch material to make the medium sizes. If the frock is for general wear, a nice quality of serge or cashmere can be used instead of broadcloth, and it will be considerably cheaper. It does not require a great deal of braid for trimming, and if one will look over the short ends displayed by shops and specially priced, a very much better quality may be had at a smaller cost than if it was bought by the yard. The buttons used should be perfectly flat and material covered. You can order them made at the counter where buttons are sold, and you will find them very inexpensive.

If one wishes to have the gown quite up to date, it is most important that the finish at the joining of the skirt and waist be as narrow as possible. Often the seam is left without elaboration, and if anything is used a cord or narrow piping is sufficient.

SHORT COATS POPULAR.

Tailored suits are made up with the short coat of the same material, but some of the handsomest gowns display boleros of contrasting fabrics, as velvet, satin, lace, embroidery and passementerie.

An extreme model, suggesting a combination of the bolero and the bolero, is cut with bell sleeves that run up to the collar, and a short square yoke, supporting a lower portion rather loosely fitting, taking away from the waist line.

Wide revers and wide bands going around the figure are noticeable features of the new short coats. Gipsure lace in hand form as a finish to the lower edge of coat and sleeves, also for facing extreme revers.

It goes without saying that this striking model should only be attempted by the tall, slender person.

When, however, the fascination of the belted coat is too strong to resist it may be modified to suit the more average figure if, after trimming the bottom of the coat with the lace, a collar of the material is added, cut to come down the front edges of the coat in stole effect. This will break the line of contrasting trimming and incidentally preserve the height.

"IL TROVATORE."

Large Audience Delighted with Joseph Sheehan and Music of Old Favorite Opera.

Opportunities to hear grand opera are so infrequent in Fort Wayne that the possibility of hearing Verdi's beautiful opera written nearly sixty years ago, brought out an extraordinary audience at the Majestic last night and one large enough to fill the house. Habitual theater-goers rubbed elbows with people who rarely attend a theatrical performance and local musicians heard with many expressions of deep pleasure the music which has delighted audiences all over the world time and again. Applause was frequent and while much of it was the spontaneous recognition of the gems of melody, duos and choruses of the opera, Joseph Sheehan, who has a splendid tenor voice and is in every way fitted to voice grand opera, came in most frequently for hearty appreciation from the audience. Giving much praise to Mr. Sheehan, does not insinuate that he was the only one of the performers. Mr. Sheehan's singing of the role of Manrico was delightful, so delightful in fact that one hardly missed the fervor in acting that the role might call forth. Miss De Solmi as the gypsy, Azucena, deserved great praise for her dramatic expression. Her voice is mellow and pleasing and while not great in volume was very satisfactory. Louis La Valle as Count Luna is promising young baritone whose solos in connection with the men's chorus in the fourth and fifth acts were extremely good. Miss Grace Nelson sang the part of Leonora. Her voice is sweet, clear and flexible and her appearance attractive. Less difficult roles of the opera were taken very creditably. The choruses were well sung and there were many fine voices particularly noticeable among the men. Throughout the performance, which moved with great smoothness, there was such expressive grading in tones and appreciable understanding of the music and of its rendition that applause was insistent at the close of the best known numbers. The setting was appropriate and many times beautiful and the general presentation of the opera one of surprising merit, especially when the price of admission was considered. Throughout the performance there were evidences of careful and artistic understanding of what the work demands and the audience was highly pleased and gave frequent encores. The weakness of the entertainment lay in lack of greater orchestral support. A pianist, a member of the opera company, did admirable work but violins, flute and cello were greatly missed.

THE RETURN OF THE BOLERO.

There are few styles more generally becoming to women than the natty little boleros and the smart looking boleros that are returning to favor this season, and as there are so many variations of these models there is no reason why every type of figure may not find one form that will prove individually becoming.

The short, also the stout, woman will look her best in the trimly built bolero, because this gives apparent length from the waistline, and anything which induces the appearance of length from this point suggests height, which is, of course, desirable.

On the contrary, the very slender figure will prefer the loose, almost shapeless, style of bolero and trim it in a way that will suggest breadth if she would look her best.

OLDTIME POLISHES.

Grandmothers kept recipes for cleaning in precious notebooks. The recipes in their manuscript books they kept as punctiliously as their diaries were always to the point. Polishers were homemade. Creams and plate powder were mixed and mated in the pantry. Plumbing and repairing bills had to be kept from the door by sheer industry. Mistress and maids willingly acted the part of "handy men."

Instead of cleaning silver with polishing paste they used to make a soap powder. An ounce and a half of cocoanut soap mixed with sufficient water to make a thick paste was the foundation. To this they added seventy-five grains of rouge and twenty-two grains of carbonate of ammonia, working both into the other ingredients and shutting the paste away in a tin box fitted with a lid until required.

USE FOR BURNT TOAST.

Crushed toast crumbs would appear a little bizarre as a cleaning agent nowadays. To grill a slice of bread until it was scorched, and then to pound it in a bowl or a mortar to a fine powder, was, however, a touch of economy, which was more than justified when the day came for cleaning drawing room or dining room, and gilt ornaments showed a lack luster which required attention. Toast crumbs were rubbed over the metal with a piece of flannel. The gilt ornamentation was afterward brushed with a plate brush over the surface, with a crumb brighter being supposed to give a polish which could not be secured by any other means.

TWO HINTS.

The rule when putting in sleeve fullness at the shoulder is to let it come between the points two inches to the front and one inch to the back of the shoulder seam. But remember this does not apply to the American yoke used in some blouses, as this yoke comes far down below the top of the shoulder in front.

When cutting sleeves remember that from the shoulder seam in the bodice to the point of the elbow should be an absolutely straight line. This is a useful rule to remember when putting in blouse sleeves as well as when doing those that are tight-fitting, as it will help you know how to regulate the fullness.

WINTER FOGS.

People who suffer from annoyance of winter fogs in their rooms or offices should keep a kettle of water (preferably one with a long spout) on the fire always boiling. In a few minutes, when the steam has diffused itself about the apartment, the fog will in a great measure be considerably lightened, and the remainder being so harmless the atmosphere will be much easier to breathe. Any irritation to the eyes, throat or chest is lessened.

BETTER THAN A FAIRY.

The little faces were disconsolate and the voices had a complaining note.

"It's a dreadful day," said Helen, "and it's even going to rain instead of snow."

"I'm tired of the books and things. I wonder if it isn't nearly lunch time," grumbled Walter.

"If there only were fairies now, and things could happen as they do in stories!" and Helen's face brightened at the thought.

"I suppose there really were such things once; but now there are just lessons and books and walks, and—New York is such a very uninteresting place."

"I'd like to live where there are wild animals and Indians and I could ride after them on a black horse," said Walter, taking a threatening attitude.

"I would love to be like Cinderella, and ride in a beautiful coach made out of a pumpkin," said Helen, longingly.

"Jack, the Giant Killer, for mine," said Walter, still more threateningly.

"I'd rather be doing something worth while."

Just then the door opened and another hurried in.

"Oh, what a disorderly room," she gasped. "Can we hustle the things into their place and get washed and dressed up in twenty minutes, and no questions? Your fairy godmother has come for you."

The Fairy Godmother Arrives.

The books and playthings were already partly cared for by the time mother finished speaking, and in five minutes the room looked quite orderly.

"What, oh! what are we going to do?" asked Helen. "Is the fairy godmother a make believe one?"

"I really can't tell you anything now," said mother, "but you must look very nice for her."

Mother was an expert, and so in a very few minutes Helen was dressed in her lovely, white embroidered dress with her beautiful new sash and hair bow. And Walter was most elegant in his white linen suit with a large sailor collar. He debated the suit, but submitted to it because he always went somewhere and had a fine time when he wore it.

As the last coat buttons were being fastened, a familiar voice called from down stairs:

"Hurry up, or the clock will strike twelve and the coach turn back into a pumpkin."

"Why, it's Auntie Belle!" said Walter, just a little disappointed.

But Helen ran down and threw her arms around her aunt.

"Dear, dear Auntie Belle, are you playing fairy godmother today?"

"Yes. Just look and see the gorgeous coach you are going to ride in."

And there in front of the house stood Auntie Belle's beautiful new limousine car, puffing and spluttering as if it were crazy to be off and would go any instant without them. In a minute they were snugly tucked inside and with a farewell wave to mother were gone. Jack, the Giant Killer, was forgotten, but not Cinderella.

"No old fairy could ever have changed a pumpkin into this car, all covered and heated, could she, Auntie Belle?" asked Helen.

"And I'd like to see any old rat that could be a chauffeur and drive first through these crowded streets," said Walter, "or in the park, either. Oh, auntie, are we going in the park? I'd like to see how it looks on such a rainy day."

A Drive Through the Park.

So they went up one side of Central park and down the other. Familiar places looked strange to the children—trees and shrubs with drooping, dripping branches and seats deserted. Even the outdoor animals were crouching in far corners or under their shelters.

Then they drove out of the park, and in a few minutes stopped before a great building with a grand entrance and many large windows. The children found themselves following Aunt Belle into an immense room like one in an Arabian Nights palace, all marble pillars, great mirrors and lace curtains and filled with many little tables, all sparkling with glass and silver and flowers. Even the ladies and gentlemen looked as if they might be princes and princesses in disguise.

A very polite waiter seated them at one of the tables and Aunt Belle suggested that they order for themselves.

"I," said Walter, "am going to have just what Ned, the new boy, ordered at the big Christmas dinner, 'roast turkey and cranberry sauce, ham sandwiches and ice cream.'"

"And I," whispered Helen, "want some pancakes."

Auntie Belle and the waiter smiled. But the children had what they ordered and many things besides. But they were so busy gazing at the won-

NIGHTCAP STORIES

To Aladdin's Palace.

They found the great car waiting at the door, and they were in again. Before they had time to ask where they were going, they were stopping at Aladdin's palace and were actually going in.

Through a great hall, down marble steps, through some heavy curtains and they were entering a vast room or theater, so gorgeous, so brilliant, so dazzling, it was beyond anything they had ever imagined. It was so far beyond any palace they had read of in the Arabian Nights, that they could only stand and gaze in utter bewilderment. The immensity of it, the pillars and walls of beautiful marble, the gorgeous colors, the carving and gliding and myriads of brilliant lights were too much for the senses to grasp.

Then they saw it was filled with people, among them hundreds of children, and by the time their coats and hats were removed and they were seated, they were ready to look eagerly toward the great stage to see what the rising curtain would reveal.

And then they began to follow the adventures of Tityl and Mytyl in their search for the Bluebird, and time was not for them; they lived in a new and strange world.

But all things must end. At last the final curtain was down and it was all over, and every one was putting on coats and hats. Some were laughing and talking, but some were so full of the wonder of it all that they could only "keep still."

"The next the children knew they were in the car going home and Auntie Belle was saying:

"Well, am I a good fairy, godmother?"

"Ripping," said Walter. "It has been a great day."

"Dear Auntie Belle," sighed Helen, "it has been the most beautiful day I ever knew. You are better than a fairy."

The Union Steel Casting company of Pittsburg has in contemplation an immense addition to its plant and for this purpose the stockholders have been summoned to a special meeting to be held April 13 to vote on an increase of the capital stock $2,500,000. An effort will be made to have the addition in operation in September.

Barley CROUTONS—Soup Delicious

Any soup can be made more deliciously appetizing and zestful by adding Cream of Barley croutons. These are highly nutritious, far superior to croutons made of bread and lend a nut-like flavor to soups and broths.

To make barley croutons put 1/2 teaspoonful salt in a cup and a half of boiling water, then stir in slowly 1-3 cupful of Cream of Barley and boil 10 minutes. When cold slice into cubes and fry in butter until a rich golden brown. Drop in soup just before serving.

Cream of Barley contains a large percentage of gluten, so essential to the human body and is especially fine for growing children and for those afflicted with weak stomachs or impaired digestion.

Cream of Barley is an appetizing and substantial cereal for breakfast. It builds up bone and muscles and helps to make rich, red blood. It is sold in 15-cent packages by all grocers. There is no more healthful grain food than barley, and Cream of Barley is barley at its truest and best. It is used in many ways, as porridge for breakfast, in gams, puffs, fried, etc.

Alive

The remark most often made regarding the German-American Bank is that it is a very much alive institution.

The officers and employees are without exception always looking for and seeking some new way to serve the bank's customers.

If there is something they can do in this direction that they are not doing, they would be glad to have you tell them.

The savings department in this National bank has become one of the features of the institution. It pays 4 per cent interest on small sums and throws around your savings all the safeguards of the National Banking system.

For Lingerie and Tailored Waists, Worth
From $1.25 to $1.75

We've made the price famous throughout the city by the great values we are giving, and by the continuous addition of new styles. This week has brought more new ones—styles that we've just placed in the collection. From plain tailored models to all-over lingerie effects, the assortment shows a wonderful range for your selection—dozens of them, and the clever trimming arrangement brings about the newest effects for the season.

Rosenthal's

"READY TO WEAR STORE"

4.98

For All Wool Serge Dresses

Brown, black, grey, navy blue, green. The price does not begin to represent the cost of production, and their real worth is from $16.00 to $15.00. We've collected the several small lots left from the special purchases in which we gave such great values, and put them all into this one lot. It will pay you to look over them as they are splendid for present wear and you buy them at about half the cost of production.

A Wealth of Fashionable Easter Apparel

That in beauty, exclusiveness of design and in importance of values represents the most notable our show rooms ever displayed. Everywhere you turn you find new goods in all the light, bright colors of the new season. Each section is taxed to its fullest capacity and your golden opportunity is here now to select from this bewildering array of

Tailored Suits, Coats, Dresses, Gowns, Separate
Skirts, Waists and Petticoats

The Rich Beauty of the New Tailored Suits

Showing the many weaves and beautiful new spring shades. Exclusiveness and clever trimming touches instantly impress you of how very important the values are for the modest prices asked. The range of prices is wonderfully complete, and we herewith mention three of the newer arrivals that have their first showing tomorrow.

15.75 FOR TAILORED SUITS
THAT REFLECT $20.00 VALUE

In design, quality and tailoring. The material is fine novelty weave. Smart short coat with large collar, finished with satin, pongee silk and buttons. Cuffs and bottom of coat and over hips show an application of wide satin bands. The skirt of a very desirable design is also effectively embellished with the satin.

22.75 FOR HANDSOMELY TRIMMED NEW TAILORED SUITS

Whipcord is the material this nobby suit is made of. The jaunty short coat shows to perfection the beautiful large collar it carries. Silk soutache braid and satin to match with gold buttons for finish, completes the trimming effect. The lining is of an extra quality satin. The skirt is beautifully designed.

28.50 For an Exact Copy of an Imported Suit Creation

And a very artistic model it is. Not only is it exact in style, but in quality of the serge used, it is equal to the imported model, and the cost to you is but half of what the original would sell for. The new point shaped collar, cuffs and body of coat beautifully ornamented with braiding and satin; this same effect is also carried out on the richly designed skirt. Coat is lined in peau de cygne silk.

Dresses and Gowns

Two words that cover a broad field. Such a great range of fabrics, such tremendous variety of styles were positively never brought together before. You'll simply open your eyes in wonderment when you behold how our plans have resulted in the very great values and stylish garments. If your need be a simple summer frock or a gorgeous gown, don't miss seeing our assortment.

SEE THE TUB DRESSES AT

2.50

They're the best values you ever beheld for the money. Made of gingham in combination plain and check, and come in pretty colors.

GREAT VALUES IN DRESSES

You'll wonder how they can possibly be made for the money. Fine gingham, neatly trimmed, smart styles; pink, blue, green, lavender, tan, brown.

4.50 For All-Over Embroidery Lingerie Dresses

Very effective in design; low neck, kimono sleeves; trimmed in open work embroidery and honiton lace insertion; bottom finished with wide embroidery flounce.

7.98 For Elaborately Designed Lingerie Dresses

Fine white mull and bands of imitation Irish crochet lace insertion closely joined, with touches of fine embroidery, form the general effect of this pretty model.

9.95 For Dotted Foulard Silk Dresses

And you cannot find their equal. The quality of silk is elegant, and they are prettily made and trimmed. Two styles, each with kimono sleeves; $12.50 is their regular worth.

19.50 For Exquisite Chiffon Gowns

For evening or party wear, and so dainty. They come in combination color effects, pink over light blue and corn color over white, messaline silk for trimming of contrasting shade.

Messaline Satin Blouse, $2.50

Two new styles of an extra quality messaline silk. They come in navy blue and black; cuffs and yoke of fish net and finish of velvet and silk soutache braid. Your wardrobe will not be complete without one of the pretty blouses.

Dainty Lingerie Waist, $2.75

They just arrived, three beautiful models of sheer white batiste and so exquisitely trimmed with eyelet embroidery and cluny lace, val insertion and clever arrangement of tucking. Two of the models have the new kimono sleeves. Ask to see them.

Silk Waists at $3.39

This price gives you five styles of black taffeta and messaline silk waists to select from that are worth $4.00 regularly. They are the best values shown for the money, and the styles are of the very newest creation. We have all sizes.

Beaded Chiffon Waists, $4.98

A very effective production—silk chiffon over striped material. Kimono sleeves, finished with deep folds and all-over lace; circular yoke. The bodice is prettily trimmed with silk embroidery and beads.

Coats for Women Misses' and Children

We cannot remember a season when the materials were so varied and such an array of stunning new styles was brought forth. Whether for woman, miss or girl, you'll have the greatest selection to choose from that was ever collected under one roof.

SPRING COATS, $12.00

Fashionable, full length styles, swell novelty weaves, smart trimming touches, large, odd shaped pockets, deep, fancy cuffs. Correct wherever worn.

SPRING COATS, $14.75

Navy and black serges, tan and gray novelty mixtures. Smart tailored styles or fancy designed models. Positive style leaders and wonderful values for the price.

COVERT COATS, $13.75

Made of that desirable soft finish covert in the richest shade of tan; full length, graceful in fit, newest wide reverses; the most perfect garment ever offered for the price.

STUNNING COATS, $27.50

Richest blue serges, elegant novelty weaves; newest large collar and overlap effects; deep reverses; most beautiful trimming touches. Newest and exclusive Parisian productions.

CHILDREN'S COATS, $2.98

Nobby new styles, novelty check weaves, or red and navy blue twilled weaves; buttons or fancy braid for trimming. Ages 6 to 12 years.

CHILDREN'S COATS, $5.00

New blue, fine grained serge; lined throughout; smart full box style; emblem embroidered on sleeve; very dressy.

MISSSES' COATS, $4.98

New shades of navy and Copenhagen blue; modish full length style, turn-back cuffs, notched collar, tailored pockets. A great value.

MISSSES' COATS, $12.75

Two-toned mesh weave; tan and brown combination; latest large collar, deep roll cuffs; large fancy buttons for ornamentation and for fastening. Value excellent.

AT THE MAJESTIC

"THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER"

The Season's Musical Event This Evening.

Wildly heralded for over a year, "The Chocolate Soldier," an opera bouffe treatment of George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," Englished by Stanislaus Stange, comes to the Majestic tonight. The score will be interpreted by the Whitney Opera Comique orchestra. The entertainment comes here direct from its phenomenal New York, Boston and Chicago runs. There are now three companies playing the opera in England. "The Chocolate Soldier" fairly sparkles with wit, spirit and brightness; and the music is tuneful, catchy and dreamy and sensuous by turns. In fact, the entire score is so dainty and charming that it fascinates as well as entertains its hearers. The famous "My Hero" waltz has been borne everywhere on the breeze, and is considered most insidious in its appeal and the most musically perfect bit of harmonic composition since the days of Johann, grandfather of the present Oscar Straus, who sent forth the "Blue Danube Waltzes" that have lived so long and sung themselves into the hearts of all the world. It is epoch-making in bringing to the great favor of theater-goers a true opera bouffe in which music tells the story as well as does the dialogue, in which every member of the cast is funny some of the time, though there is no special comedian, and in which a full story is told without interpolated horse-play of any kind.

JEFFERSON DE ANGELIS.

He Comes in "The Beauty Spot" Saturday Matinee and Night.

Supported by a company of sixty and fresh from his triumph in the enactment of the role of Koko in the all-star revival of "The Mikado" at the Casino, Jefferson De Angelis in "The Beauty Spot" will play at the Majestic on Saturday matinee and night.

This musical play, which ran for seven months at the Herald Square theater, is claimed to be of unique kind in novelty, wit and melody. The book and lyrics of Joseph W. Herbert make him as a ripened librettist who has put bromides and vulgarities behind him and makes his appeal to the healthy-minded. Though the title of "The Beauty Spot" contains a certain mole on the face of the wife of General Samovar, the Russian ambassador, impersonated by Mr. De Angelis, it is an offensive mark. The general's lady, as a model, has posed for artists as "The Girl in the Bathub," in a mantle "as diaphanous as an ungratified wish" and screened only by the steam from the tub. The value of this poster in the hands of a painter struggling for the hand of the general's daughter is the pivot around which most of the action of the book revolves.

The score by Reginald DeKoven is in lighter mood than his wont, which is well for a play which means to please the ordinary theater-goer. His purpose is much helped by such singles as go with "The Boulevard Glee," a quite uncharacteristic dance that will serve as an antidote for the doses of the strenuous waltzes that have been so much in vogue lately.

The management has embellished the piece with every possible touch known to the art of staging a musical comedy. The scenes are rich in color and design, representing a bathing resort in the south of France and the tropical gardens adjoining the hotel. The chorus is introduced in almost every form, from bathing girls and short-skirted columbines to grand dames, and every face is pretty and every figure a delight. Mr. De An-gis is supported by the original cast, consisting of George J. MacFarlane, Viola Gillette, Florence Martin, Joseph Fay, Marcus Beeman, Inez Dean, Arvid Paulson, Ida Vantine and sixty others.

"SCHOOLDAYS" COMING.

Matinees Tuesday and Wednesday for Great Musical Novelty.

With the return of Herman Timberg and the excellent cast that presents the three-act musical comedy, "Schooldays," the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Majestic theater audiences will bubble over with merriment because of the humor that is passed across the footlights in Gus Edwards' thoroughly original production.

"Schooldays" is a cyclone of jollity from start to end and fully measures up to the standard set at its last appearance here. The principals who made individual hits during the New York run at the Circle Theater have all been retained by Stair & Havlin, the managers of the attraction, and the chorus is extremely lively and jubilant. Most of the old favorite songs have been retained, but there are many new ones including three by Herman Timberg, "My Ju-Ju Babe," "I Love You All the More for That" and "The Snowflake."

Mr. Timberg continues as the feature of the attraction because of his uncommon ability. He can sing and dance and plays a violin remarkably well. The expression that he puts into his instrument sends a thrill through every audience. The merry-go-round scene at the close of the second act, when the desks are converted into a practical carousel, is, with its electrical effects, a novelty that invariably brings a half dozen curtain calls. The dancing girls number at the close of the first act has also been retained. In fact, there are a number of dancing specialties.

The company supporting Mr. Timberg is unusually strong this season. Miss Edna Reming will be seen as "Nannie," the homeless waif; Jack Manley is Bill Duxan, the tough kid; Daniel Murphy co-ordinates as the German lad; Dan Coleman will be seen as Tommy Tatters and Charles P. Walsh is the Boston youth who dispenses book knowledge. Miss Alma Bauer returns as "Our Beautiful Teacher," and other familiar characterizations are in competent hands.

We will build to suit you on a five-acre tract not far from street car. A good chicken ranch location. Monroe W. Fitch & Sons, the Earth and Insurance Men. 3-8-eod.

Facts About the Bible.
The Bible contains 2,566,480 letters, 810,697 words, 31,175 verses, 1,189 chapters and 66 books. The longest chapter is the One Hundred and Nineteenth psalm, the shortest and middle chapter the One Hundred and Seventeenth psalm. The middle verse is the eighth of the One Hundred and Eighteenth psalm. The longest name is in the eighth chapter of Isaiah. The word "and" occurs 49,027 times, the word "Lord" 1,855 times. The thirty-seventh chapter of Isaiah and the nineteenth chapter of the second book of Kings are alike. The longest verse is the ninth of the eighth chapter of Psalms; the shortest verse is the thirty-fifth of the eleventh chapter of John. In the first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra is the alphabet. The most piece of reading is the twenty-sixth chapter of Acts. The name of God is not mentioned in the book of Esther. It contains knowledge, wisdom, holiness and love.—Philadelphia Press.

Life in a Lighthouse.
Five children, two dogs, a cat and a raccoon live with the keepers of the Boston light, the beacon at the entrance to Boston harbor. They live on Little Brewster Island, a tiny speck of land where there is only one plot of grass in a sheltered spot. All the year round they live there—in the summer, when the ocean is as green as the young vine leaves after a rain, and in the winter, when the green is dimmed into gray and storms arise. The five children—in any number of the two dogs, the one cat and the lonely raccoon—cannot get to the mainland easily, and so they have a special schoolteacher of their own. They can study history by going outdoors and looking at the lighthouse. It is said to be the oldest in America. At any rate, it was built in 1715 by the British government.—Chicago News.

Amateur Artists.
A set of cards is prepared, one for each person, bearing a line or two from some well known nursery rhyme. Each guest is given besides the rhyme card, a blank card, upon which he must illustrate as well as he possibly can the lines of his rhyme.

After a given length of time the cards are collected and the guests attempt to guess the lines represented. The best artist is decided by vote.

Greater Than They Look.
We all imagine a great man ought to look the part, and it is with a certain feeling of disappointment that we find a king in plain clothes looks like any other man and illustrious women look pretty much like other women, no matter what their accomplishments. One day, many years ago, a very little girl met General Grant face to face. "This is General Grant," said her father, introducing her. "Are you the great General Grant who fought all them battles?" "Yes, I was in a good many battles," answered Grant, much amused. The tot gazed wonderingly at the general and then quietly said, "Let's hear you holter!"

DAWN.

"John, do you love me?"
"Yes."
"Will you always love me?"

Electrical Engineers Secure Drs. Steinmatz and D'Ryan.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 10.—With exactly opposite reports emanating from the union and railroad headquarters here today an accurate estimate of the result of the strike order sent last night to white firemen of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific, and the Queen and Crescent railroad was impossible. The brotherhood officials claimed that the order had been generally observed, while at the office of T. C. Powell, vice president of the road, it was stated that there had been no interruption of service. The men are striving to have negro firemen excluded.

In April take out of this city between 400 and 500 school teachers, the teachers of the public schools of Fort Wayne and of the district schools of the county, with the teachers of the adjoining counties, to a special train, their destination being Indianapolis.

They go to the Indiana capital city to attend the Northern Indiana Teachers' convention, the sessions of which are held April 6, 7 and 8. The days of the week are Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It is not yet known what day they will leave here, probably Thursday morning, however, and the road they take has not been definitely arranged, but it is presumed it will be the Lake Erie, as that route offers the best advantages.

They will go on a special train. County School Superintendent Felger thinks about three-fourths of the teachers of the city and county will go. They will be joined here by the teachers of some of the northern counties and others so that it is altogether probable that the special train will necessarily be one of seven or eight passenger cars.

The teachers bear their own expenses, car travel and entertainment in Indianapolis, but they are allowed their teachers' per diem for the two school days they miss from their duties. This pay they receive for attending the state convention is the result of a new law passed at the recent session of the state legislature. Heretofore it was discretionary with the township trustees to allow them pay during their attendance. Most of them, however, allowed it. Now it is compulsory for them to do so. The benefit the teachers receive at these conventions accrues to the schools and it seems right the teachers should receive pay for these two days.

SHOP CLERKS SATURDAY.

Big Meeting of Pennsylvania Men to Be Held.

Tomorrow all of the shop clerks from the Northwest system of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh and some of the men connected with the motive power department of the Southwest system will hold a meeting here to discuss matters connected with the department. Chief Clerk W. L. Witt, of the Northwest motive power system, will preside at the meeting and W. C. Bade will act as secretary. Other participants in the proceedings will be Chief Clerk J. A. Dilline, of the Southwest system; J. C. Judy and Charles Young, shop clerk and assistant respectively, of the Columbus shops; P. F. Merritt, assistant chief clerk of the Northwest system, and the following shop clerks: J. H. Hoberbrook, Fort Wayne; H. Weschler, of Chicago; J. M. Winter, of Crestline; G. P. Brown, of Allegheny; A. P. Richardson, of Wellsville; W. D. Moore, of Mahoningtown, and R. Henderson, of Toledo.

FAMOUS LECTURERS COMING.

Electrical Engineers Make Date for Dr. Steinmatz.

Through the efforts of Councilman E. A. Wagner, Fort Wayne is to be given an opportunity to hear lectures this year by two of the leading electrical engineers in the country. These lectures will be a part of the series given by the Fort Wayne division of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. M. O'Ryan, of Lynn, Mass., a lighting expert, will lecture here in May and Dr. C. P. Steinmatz, of Schenectady, one of the foremost authorities in electrical matters in the world, will lecture here in the fall, the date not yet being fixed. Mr. Wagner regards himself exceedingly fortunate in engaging the services of these two lecturers. He has long been working in that direction, but until this week failed to secure a promise from them.

ELECTROTECHNICS' VAUDEVILLE Managers Fixing Up an Entertaining Program.

The program committee for the annual vaudeville of the Electro-Technic club, which will be given at the Majestic at a date in May to be announced later, has not yet completed its work, but is making rapid progress in that direction. The vaudeville will have eight features and cover a period of nearly three hours. On the program will be a farce entitled "His Any One Here Seen Kelly," the roles to be taken by members of the ball team; a three-man acrobatic feat, a mandolin sketch, a hand "sketch" in which there will be twenty-six pieces and some songs by the Electro-Technic quartet, composed of Messrs. Snook, Byer, Rogers and Schwartz. The management hopes to be able to announce the date of the vaudeville next week.

WIDOWS TO GET PASSES.

Yesterday's Pittsburgh Post made the statement that the widows and dependent children of deceased employees of the Pennsylvania were to be accorded the privileges in the way of passes that would have been theirs were the head of the family alive and on the pay rolls. In part the Post said: "Widows of minor officials will be given annual passes of the same kind that were issued to their husbands during their lifetime upon request; but whether similar privileges will be accorded to the widows of deceased employees who were entitled to such passes has not been determined as yet. Wherefore, the management has decided that women who may desire the transportation in question shall prefer their requests through the foremen under whom their husbands worked and the passes will be issued through the regular channels."

TAFT WILL ADDRESS B. R. T.

Incomplete arrangements for the international convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen include an address by President Taft, Governor Tener and the mayor of Harrisburg on Tuesday, May 3, the opening day of the convention. The reception and ball will be held the following night at Armory hall, the largest in the city of Harrisburg. All of the other local brotherhoods in Harrisburg are co-operating with the trainmen to make a success of the gathering in a social way. This is the information conveyed to the local B. R. T. lodge from international lodge headquarters.

BRAKEMAN HAS HAND INJURED.

F. L. Thomas, a Pennsylvania brakeman, sustained painful injury to one of his hands yesterday. In making a coupling of the engine to the train at Plover, Ind., after doing some switching there, the hand was caught in such manner that the little finger was crushed and the third finger was bruised. The injured man received first aid at Plover and came here to have the hand dressed by the company's surgeon. Mr. Thomas was a member of Conductor W. E. Slink's crew on the Fort Wayne-Plymouth local freight.

FEELING IS OPTIMISTIC.

R. J. Fisher, of the Bass Foundry and Machine company, has returned from Columbus, Ohio, where business for the company took him a few days ago. He says the manufacturers and railway men here in that city were inclined to the opinion that the present slight depression would disappear soon and that normal business conditions would prevail. They look for better business when summer opens up.

L. E. & W. OFFICIALS.

General Supt. H. A. Bloom, of the L. E. & W., and J. W. O'Brien, superintendent of the Fort Wayne branch of the system, spent several hours in the city yesterday afternoon, looking after some proposed improvements at the freight depot and yards. They came in at 2:45 and left at 5:20 o'clock last evening.

PAY DAY AT BASS WORKS.

The employees at the Bass works were paid today for work performed in February. The amount was about $2,000 less than normal, due to the fact that there are fewer work days in February than in other months and that there was a holiday when the shops were closed. Business also was not quite normal that month.

WILL ERECT BOILER IN CHICAGO

Robert Schellhammer, assistant foreman of the Bass boiler shop, and some assistants, will go to Chicago next week to install a boiler in the Farber Asphalt company's plant. The boiler, which was shipped there early in the week, was built at the Bass works.

COMING HOME SUNDAY.

Foreman Fred Austroup, of the Washash car inspectors and repairers, will leave the Peru hospital Sunday and come home. He was operated upon for rupture about two weeks ago and is making rapid progress towards recovery.

G. R. & I. PAY DAY.

The itinerary of the G. R. & I. paymaster was received and bulletined here today. He will reach Fort Wayne Tuesday, March 20.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

H. J. Yergey, chief car clerk of the Pennsylvania Northwest system, is in Allegheny on business for the company.

C. G. Strieder left the city on a Pennsylvania train at noon today bound for Portland, Ore.

General Joseph Warren Ketter, of Ohio, veteran of many political and two civil wars, now concludes to retire. The general is hale and hearty at the age of seventy-five years, and he is going to devote his still unbounded energy to the law. General Ketter has a pretty home in Springfield, Ohio.

DOC PERKINS' REMEDY.

Customer Tried It on Himself Before the Dog Had a Chance.

SUPPOSE nothin' would have happened if it hadn't been for Bud Willis droppin' the chemicals (speakin' about old Doc Perkins' champion remedy for man and beast, but none). Mebbe you never heard of it. Fact is, hardly anybody ever did—not that it wasn't a success; but, you see, only one lot was put on sale, and that didn't last more'n two days.

Mrs. C. Lichtin, Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "My daughter was afflicted with pains in her back. I heard of Foley Kidney Pills and she began taking them according to directions with splendid results. The pains in her back vanished and she is well and strong today. I shall cheerfully recommend Foley Kidney Pills to all of those suffering with kidney trouble." For Sale at Dreter Drug Co's.

factory sent Doc a lot of bottles of chemicals mixed for his drug store, and Bud (he was learnin' to be a druggist then—he went into the express business afterward) dropped the box into a big tub setting beside the counter and smashed all the bottles galley west.

Don't suppose nothin' would have happened if Doc hadn't got sore and said to Bud, "You quit tonight; you're fired!" And of course Bud thought, "seem" he was fired, that he might as well have some fun first. And just then Ole Larsen, the Swede, hopped in.

"Ay got sick dawg on house," Ole says. "Ay tank ay skol get some medicine."

"One minute, Mr. Larsen," says Bud. "We've got a shipment of medicine that's just come in, and it'll cure any dog of anything from hydrophobia to hydrotherapy."

And Bud, hustlin' out into the back room, scooped up a dipperful of them mixed chemicals from the tub (he didn't know what they was any more'n a rabbit) and poured the stuff into a bottle.

"Here you are, Mr. Larsen," Bud says. "Give your dog a teaspoonful in a glass of water every hour and see that he drinks it all."

So Ole started off down the road as satisfied as if he'd had a reg'lar doctor's prescription instead of that hog wash out of the tub.

Don't suppose nothin' would have happened if it hadn't been a day cold enough to freeze your eyewinkers off. Ole wasn't dressed very warm, and 'long about the time he got in front of Lawyer Higginson's he felt like he was frose. So, without thinkin' at all, he opened the bottle and took a nip and says after he smacks his lips, "Ay tank Ay ain't ban waste dat on no dawg." And then—bingo!—he drunk up every drop in the bottle.

Don't suppose nothin' would have happened if just then A. Slevner Wobblins from New York hadn't skipped out of Lawyer Higginson's house, where he'd sold Mrs. Higginson a set

Don't Be Bald
Nearly Anyone May Secure a Splendid Growth of Hair

WeW have a remedy that has a record of growing hair and curing baldness in 93 out of every 100 cases where used according to directions for a reasonable length of time. That may seem like a strong statement—it is, and we mean it to be, and no one should doubt it until they have put our claims to an actual test.

We are so certain Rexall "83" Hair Tonic will cure dandruff, prevent baldness, stimulate the scalp and hair roots, stop falling hair and grow new hair, that we personally give our positive guarantee to refund every penny paid us for it in every instance where it does not give entire satisfaction to the user.

Rexall "83" Hair Tonic is as pleasant to use as clear spring water. It is delightfully perfumed, and does not grease or gum the hair. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. With our guarantee back of it, you certainly take no risk. Sold only at our stores—The Rexall Stores, Meyer Bros. Co., Four Drug Stores.

of Edgar Allan Poe de looks for $950. Of course for a minute or two the medicine didn't take no effect, but by the time the book agent reached the front gate Ole was leapin' up and down and cuttin' circles and springin' around like a rabbit. A Slevner came out of the front gate, and Ole made a long jump for him and kissed him on both cheeks and knocked him over and began to bump his head on the ground, all the time yellin': "Hooraw Svenski! Hooraw Norski!" And then Lawyer Higginson, whose wife had just told him what she'd done, rushed out of the house and grabbed the contract for $950 out of Wobblins' pocket and tore it up and telephoned for the police, and afterwards he give Ole a job as janitor in the courthouse.

Natchely when old Doc Perkins heard what them chemicals had done for Ole he wanted to do the same for the rest of sufferin' humanity, and he bottled all the rest that was left in the tub.

It was the same thing that Bud had give to Ole, but it didn't stay on the market for all that. No. About the second day it was on the shelves it et its way through the glass bottles and wasted out on the floor.—Horatio Winslow in Puck.

Do you know that of all the minor ailments colds are by far the most dangerous? It is not the cold itself that you need to fear, but the serious diseases that it often leads to. HE finished up his college days And studied for the bar. And when a lawyer he became Was noted near and far. But after hanging out his sign He found it didn't pay. For people won't believe, you know, A word that lawyers say.

And then he thought he'd like to fish And bought some hooks and line. He found his luck had changed at last. The fish were biting fine. But people are suspicious, too, Of fishermen, 'tis said, And when he told his fishing tales Each man would shake his head.

And then he quit the fishing game— He had another plan. In Washington he now became A weather bureau man. But still he found his lot was hard And caused him much regret, For if he'd say the day'd be dry They thought it would be wet.

He started next a kind of bank. Not merely for his health. It was a get-rich-quick concern— He's rolling now in wealth. It's funny how the people act— In fact, it seems absurd. It wasn't till he'd faked 'em good That they would take his word. —Yonkers Statesman.

A PARADOX IN INVENTIONS.

The Cotton Gin "Gaveth," the Cotton Picker "Taketah Away."

(The Outlook.)

A machine which recently has been perfected may do for human liberation more than could be accomplished by the laws of many states or the benefactions of many philanthropists. This is the mechanical cotton picker. The possibilities which lie latent in this bit of machinery are more credible when it is remembered what a social revolution was produced by another cotton machine—Ell Whitney's cotton gin. It is said of the earlier invention that it created the slave power. Of the later invention it is predicted that it will wipe away the worst vestiges of slavery. The cotton picker is the invention of a Scotsman, Angus Campbell.

bell. For twenty years he has been at work upon his idea and at last has succeeded. The machine he has constructed will discriminate between ripe and unripe cotton, between leaves and cotton bolls, and will injure neither cotton nor plant. By means of it one man can do the work of fifty human pickers.

At a dinner recently given in New York by Mrs. Theodore H. Price, the well known cotton expert, Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, of the department of agriculture, and Mr. Cavanaugh, of the International Harvester company—the one the practical scientist, the other the able business man—both testified to the efficiency of the machine.

MRS. BOWSER RESTORES IT.

Before the Find He Lectures His Wife For Losing Here, Containing a Nickel. Then He Accuses Her of Robbery. "Divorce!"

By M. QUAD.
[Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.]

MRS. BOWSER had a confession to make. She was in a hurry to make it, but she was polite enough to wait until after dinner. She hoped the roast beef would incline Mr. Bowser to look upon her leniently and that the mince pie might bring forth forgiveness. After he had skimmed over the evening paper and smoked half a cigar she quietly said:

"Mr. Bowser, do you ever do anything careless?"

"Never!" was the prompt reply. "You have lived with me long enough to know that."

"But you are sometimes absentminded."

"Never in this world. I always keep my wits about me."

"Why, I suppose I—I was a little absentminded today, but I don't think I ought to be scolded about it. It might happen to any one, you see."

"I don't see anything of the kind. Woman, did you give a tramp my Sunday suit in an absent moment? If you did—"

"No, it wasn't that."

"Then you gave the butcher a ten dollar bill for a five and the villain never said a word. I'll go over there and take him by the neck!"

"It wasn't that. I went down to do some shopping this afternoon. I had $12 with me."

"And let some one on the car pick your pocket! Woman, you don't get another blamed cent out of me this winter! Twelve dollars!"

"No one picked my pocket, Mr. Bowser."

"Then you left your purse on the seat when you got out. Don't tell me you didn't. A thousand women a day do that very same trick."

"And I didn't leave my purse. It was right in my hand when I entered the store."

"Then how in thunder did you lose the $12. Don't beat about the bushes and try to lay it on a dog."

Like a Woman.

"It was this way," said Mrs. Bowser after drawing a long breath. "I had shopped to the amount of $11.95 and paid for the goods and saved a nickel for my car fare home. Then I saw a piece of goods I wanted to look at, and while overhauling it I laid my purse on the counter."

"On the counter," he shouted as he jumped up—"laid your purse on the counter!"

"Yes, and a cross eyed woman who crowded in must have taken it. When I went to pick it up it was gone, and so was she."

"And how many, many times have I told you to look out for cross eyed women! You saw that she was cross eyed, and yet my repeated warnings did not come to you! Of course she took your purse—of course she did!"

"But, you see, there was only a nickel in it. I simply had to walk home instead of riding."

"Don't talk about 'simply' to me, Mrs. Bowser! Suppose there had been fifty—a hundred dollars in that purse. Suppose you had been in London or Paris or Africa. By the piper, woman, it's a wonder to me that you haven't lost your ears!"

"But is a nickel worth making so much fuss about?" she asked.

"It isn't the nickel, but the principle of the thing. I warn you a thousand times to beware of cross eyed women. You see one in the store. You deliberately lay your purse down where she can gobble it up and skip, and then you come home to talk about 'simply' to me! Do you think I shall ever trust you with $12 again?"

"But I didn't lose $12. It was only a nickel."

"There you go again—there you go!"

"But you have lost your wallet two or three times."

Turn Called on Samuel.

"When, where? Name the dates! You have made a heinous charge against your husband, and now I want the dates. Never in all my life have I lost my wallet."

"Well, other men have mislaid theirs."

"What other men have done or are going to do is nothing to me. I have a pocket for my wallet, and it's always there. I don't!"

Mr. Bowser had carried his hand to his breast pocket with the words, and two seconds later he gave a sudden jump.

"What is it?"

"By the great horn spoon, but—"

"Is it your wallet?"

"Yes, it's gone!"

"You don't say so! Feel in your other pockets."

Mr. Bowser did so, even to his watch pocket, but the wallet was not forthcoming.

"When did you have it last?" asked Mrs. Bowser as he began to turn from red to white and back again.

"This—this noon. I took out a bill to pay for my lunch. Here is the change, but the wallet is gone. It must have been picked from my pocket on the car."

"Mr. Bowser, did you notice a man with a Roman nose on the car with you?"

"I did—I did! Yes, he had a Roman nose, and when he got off he fell against me. That must have been the time when he got the wallet, and there was nearly $200 in it!"

"And yet a thousand times over I have warned you against men with Roman noses! You saw he had one, and yet you were not on your guard. A thousand men like you let a thousand men with Roman noses pick their pockets every day!"

"Near $200!" he groaned.

"And all your fault. It's a wonder to me that some one hasn't stolen your coatails."

"But I'll know him again on sight—I'll know him!" exclaimed Mr. Bowser as he danced around. "He got off one block down, and I'll take a walk and see if I can't come across him. If I do I'll un-Roman that Roman nose for him in just one punch!"

"Yes, you deliberately sat there," continued Mrs. Bowser, "and saw that the man had a Roman nose and never even suspected that he was after your $200. You must have been thinking of something else off. Suppose you had been in London, Paris or Africa. You'd have been in a nice financial fix, wouldn't you?"

Ungrateful at the Last.

"Say—say, some one shall die for this!" he hoarsely whispered.

"But it's as much your fault as his—more. He didn't know how much money you had, while you knew that he had a Roman nose. Do you think I shall ever trust you to carry around almost $200 again?"

"I'll take a walk. I'll have my eyes peeled for a man with a Roman nose. I shall find him sooner or later. When I do I shall walk up to him and haul off!"

"But you needn't look for him this time," interrupted Mrs. Bowser. "Here's your wallet, and I hope you will take better care of it in future."

"It is—it is!" he gasped as he grabbed for it. "But—"

"You pulled it out at dinner when you were looking for a letter, and it was left beside your plate. I mislaid my purse with a nickel in it, and you mislaid your wallet with almost $200 in it!"

Mr. Bowser sat down and counted the money twice over and then rose up to say:

"Robbed of my wallet in my own house! Mrs. Bowser, this is the last straw! Telephone your lawyer in the morning to see my lawyer and have the divorce procured without scandal if possible."

VISCOUNTESS MOLESWORTH OPENS 'THE IMPERIAL' RIFLE CLUB BY FIRING THE FIRST SHOT.

London, March 10.—Martial ardor is by no means confined to enthusiastic boy scouts and gallant territorialists. The women of Great Britain, fired by the wish to be prepared if any foreign foe should invade this little isle, have organized the Imperial Rifle club, and the range was opened a few days ago. The club is made up of the aristocracy. The first shot, which may be heard round the world some day, was fired by Viscountess Molesworth. She is the wife of the ninth viscount of the line, George Bagot Molesworth. She was Nina Alida, youngest daughter of the late Colonel H. D. Faulkner.

WYETH'S
SAGE AND SULPHUR
HAIR REMEDY

Grew a Full Growth of Hair on a Bald Head

Here's the Proof

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin, until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

The birthright of every man, woman and child—a full, healthy head of hair. If your hair is falling, if it is full of dandruff, or if it is faded or turning gray, it is diseased and should be looked after without delay.

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY, a true Hair Tonic and Restorer, removes dandruff in a few days, stops hair falling in one week, and starts a new growth in a month.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur does not soil the skin nor injure the hair; but it is an ideal hair dressing that will restore faded and gray hair to natural color and keep the hair soft and glossy.

Kidney Pills

For Backache, Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Disorders

Foley Kidney Pills are healing and antiseptic, and give immediate relief. They are tonic in action and quick in results.

Geo. E. Bell, 639 Third St., a well known citizen of Fort Wayne, Ind., and for many years a conductor on the Nickel Plate, writes us: "Twenty years of railroad life left my kidneys in a broken down and terrible condition. There was soreness and a continual pain across my back and hips and the poor action of my kidneys gave me much distress and annoyance accompanied by an irritating sensation. I was troubled with dizziness and I also tired easily. I began taking Foley Kidney Pills, and the first bottle showed wonderful improvement, and four bottles finally cured me completely. Since being cured, I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to many railroad men and friends who also have gotten good results from their use."

How She Keeps Her Baby Healthy—Test Free

An easy way for any mother to raise sturdy children

So far back as the memory of man goes every mother has had her own peculiar ideas about how to keep her children healthy. But women are getting to agree on the main point more and more, and that is that it is of first importance to keep the little one's bowels open.

From the bowels comes health or sickness. Unless a child is born diseased it can be kept healthy, and made to grow so vigorously that it will be a joy to its parents. If the bowels are not free and pure in infancy and childhood, it is the main point for the mother to look after. The amount of vomiting and playing a child does keeps its bowels moving naturally, but there comes a time when they overdo it and something that does not agree, and then a laxative is absolutely necessary.

Don't wait until matters get worse—give a laxative at once. What laxative are you going to give? Stewed fruit and things of that kind? No, no, when the child is really constipated. Give a scientific laxative, a formula based on forty years of experience with children. Such a laxative is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of mothers are already giving in these emergencies. It is the mainstay of the children of Mrs. J. H. Whiting of Leno, Wis., Mrs. Chas. H. Reichert, Richmond Hill, L. I., and numerous others.

Don't give pills, tablets or strong cathartics for the child doesn't need it. Go to your druggist and buy a fifty cent or one dollar bottle of Syrup Pepsin. It is mild, gentle, free from griping and exactly suited to the needs of infants and children. If you want to try it before buying write Dr. Caldwell and he will send you a free sample bottle. He has sent thousands such bottles to mothers.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

SUNNY ALBERTA AS HE SEES IT

Former Fort Wayne Man is Much Enthused Over Western Canada.

C. S. SHONTS WRITES

Declaring that he has no purpose to "boost" the country, but merely to write of what he knows and sees in response to requests from many friends here, Charles S. Shonts has written The Sentinel from Ponoka, Alberta, Canada. Mr. Shonts will be well remembered as a former resident of Fort Wayne, who was once active in the affairs of the local populist organization. His letter follows:

Ponoka, Alta., Can., March 6, 1911. I came to Sunny Alberta, Canada, last October. When I left, so many of my friends requested me to be sure to write them the real truth and facts about this last great west of which so little is known by the people, and it is surprising how little the students and teachers even, of either country, know of the other. It is hard to reach many, only through the press. So as matter of information, you can publish it if you wish.

I am not writing to boost this country. I only write of what I know and see. I am proud of having been born under the stars and stripes in the good old United States of America. It is a great country and will be greater. Its location and climate, so varied, is the best in the world to make them the greatest people. But we must not think that it is the only spot God has made for man because we were born there. That is narrow.

Canada has 3,614,000 square miles, which is one-twelfth of the earth's surface.

Alberta province, or state, is situated just north of Montana and east of the Rocky Mountains, a vast rolling prairie, partly timbered. Simply a continuation of the great states of Kansas, Iowa and Montana. Nearly 1,000 miles long and 300 miles wide, or about 180,000,000 acres of stock, grain and mineral lands.

Twice as large as Great Britain and Ireland and much larger than Germany or France, having about 500,000 inhabitants, mostly from the states and eastern Canada.

The Indians here appear to be peaceable, intelligent, industrious and superior to any I have ever seen; just like the whites, work when they have to. So far as I can judge, the women are of a superior quality for a new country; many refined and educated from the larger cities of the states.

Really a beautiful and productive country. No one would deny that. Climate is mild, with quiet, biting cold in the middle of winter. Not many cloudy days, with bright sunshine so much that it has come to be called Sunny Alberta. Long days and short cold nights in summer. Long hours to work and things to grow. You are 1,500 feet above sea level; here 3,000 feet. We are 1,500 feet higher and that much nearer the land of the blessed. It certainly is healthy here.

Atmosphere is clear, pure, bright and invigorating. No winds, storms or blizzards in winter or summer. No railway has had to use a snow plow this winter that I have heard of. People here claim this was a severe winter. January only was cold; 62 below was the worst, but you would not think it, so calm and quiet. Snow fell deep now. Good sleighing every hour from the day snow fell about the first of December. Rather more snow than usual. We get used to 20 or 30 below zero and it's comfortable to be out because it's not a damp air. Horses and sheep have been out about all the time, getting their living by pawing the snow away to get the grass and stay fat. Grass is rich and fattening. It is here in abundance and should be utilized by all kinds of stock. Dairying is very profitable. Private creamery system was unsatisfactory and the government established one which met the wants and needs of the settlers, giving them the highest price for all their cream. Free and unlimited at 4 per cent. cost, and the settler used his separated milk for the pigs and calves. Most every one has done well who has been here any length of time.

This is certainly a land of opportunities for rich and poor. The rich have gotten richer by buying and selling land.

Just think! A poor man or widow can get a home for nothing; 160 acre of good land for nothing. A home, the bulwark of free government, civilization and freedom. Land office charges $10 for filing. Only have to live on it six months of the year for three years and do some improving. When you prove up, it is worth from one to four thousand dollars, according to kind and location. Some parts have enough timber and others have not for their own use. It's not heavy like that was in Indiana. Mostly poplar, spruce and balsam. Not much fruit, except wild berries, yet potatoes, cabbage, celery, turnips, beets, onions and peaplant do well.

Coal deposits are equal in quality and quantity to those of Pennsylvania. Railways are being built to get it out. Good school system and people are intelligent. Wages and prices are about the same as there. If anything, wages are higher. More people work for themselves. The lakes and rivers abound in fish, ducks and geese. The land with foot hens, partridges, quail, chickens, rabbits, badgers, coyotes, deer, moose and bear. I cannot see an honest reason why a duty should be charged between these two countries. If they should, then Indiana should tax Ohio and Illinois, so they won't injure her with their corn and wars.

Each province should tax the other. Transportation alone is a high tariff wall. It is prohibitive to many things. One sheep raiser thought he could do better to send his wool to the states. Freight, commission, duty, etc., took it all. He received three two-cent stamps. The farmer and manufacturer ought to hang their heads in shame to admit that either can't compete with the other without a duty.

The laws and fees here are almost prohibitive against lawyers, doctors

Since John Quit Drinking

By John's Wife

I'm the happiest little woman. In all this little town. And my merry laugh and singing. Take the place of sigh and frown. For JOHN HAS QUIT HIS DRINKING. And is like himself once more. And the world is just a paradise. With such happiness in store!

One day I read some verses— "Mary's Miracle" was the name. And I said, that's John exactly. And I'll send you the same. So I sent for GOLDEN REMEDY. (As dry as any could be) And I put it in John's supper. And I petted him a little. And it didn't taste a little bit. Had no odor, so you see. It was smoothest kind of salting. For little Doctor No. And I washed and pressed and waited. (And cried some, too, I guess). And I didn't have the greatest faith. I'm ashamed now to confess.

And John never thought a minute. He was being cured of drink. And soon he's as well as any one. It makes me cry to think! Just makes me cry for gladness. I'm so proud to be his wife. Since he's cured of drinking. And leads a nice, new life.

"Since John has quit drinking!" I can't say it does enough! And he's as good as a new man. As he would a poison stuff. And when I say he's as good as new. As he would a poison stuff. I say for John the most of all— THIS GOLDEN REMEDY.

TAFT HAS BUSY DAY AT ATLANTA

President Gets Rousing Greeting from the Georgia City.

FIGURES ON A REST

Atlanta, Ga., March 10.—President Taft reached Atlanta shortly after 11 o'clock today, his train having been delayed just this side of Gainesville by a slight accident to the engine. The president was greeted by an immense throng. He was immediately driven to the auditorium to attend a session of the southern commercial congress.

The weather was ideal. The transition from the snow covered streets of Washington to the summer-like temperature prevailing here was pleasurable. During the greater part of the morning the president traveled through pink blooming peach orchards. Gov. Brown met Mr. Taft at the terminal station. Arriving at the auditorium the president was greeted with prolonged cheers by the delegate to the congress.

The afternoon is filled with engagements, including a reception at the governor's mansion, a speech at a negro Methodist church, an automobile ride, a reception at the University club. A dinner at 6:30 o'clock and the speech at the auditorium will bring the president's stay to a close.

Mr. Taft is looking forward to a complete rest at Augusta, a making no engagements for the time of his stay there and declares that he intends to golf each morning and "just loaf" through the afternoons and evenings. Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft will reach Augusta Sunday morning to remain during the week of the president's stay. The president will be kept fully informed of the situation along the Mexican frontier. He is hopeful, however, that the quick movement of troops to the border will have salutary effect generally upon conditions in Mexico.

I Cure Pelvic, Nervous and Chronic Diseases

There is no house in Fort Wayne which shows such a magnificent line of room-size Rugs as does the Foster Furniture Company.

Bed Davenport which give no indication of their double use are having a great run. No piece of Furniture is more useful. Foster's is the place to buy them.

That your Furniture or Carpets came from Foster's is always a guarantee of their excellence and style.

The Foster Furniture Company is the exclusive Fort Wayne agent of many of the most celebrated lines of Furniture and Carpets known to the trade.

For the purpose of proving the advantages of my methods in the treatment and cure of PELVIC, NERVOUS and CHRONIC diseases I will not only give to everyone who is anxious to obtain a cure and who will call at my office before MARCH 15 a careful and thorough examination FREE OF CHARGE, but to further demonstrate to the public the rapidity and thoroughness of the CURES I make, I will treat any case I accept for a CURE between now and MARCH 15 AT A GREATLY REDUCED FEE.

The warm summer months will soon be here, the time of the year when the hardest work is to be done.

Are you physically able to do your part and keep your place in the procession of life? Is there some disease which is slowly, but surely, undermining your vitality and putting you for performing your part of the duties which every man owes to his country, to his neighbors, to his family, his loved ones and to himself?

Do you think you are doing your duty by neglecting an opportunity to rid yourself of the shackles of disease?

Every man who does less than he should do at his desk, in the shop or on the farm is weak in some way.

I have found that the man who is unable to accomplish all that he hopes or expects is often the silent sufferer from some PELVIC or CHRONIC disease which is slowly, but surely, wrecking his nervous system and as surely unfitting him for actively competing with his fellowmen.

We all have a duty to perform or an ambition to fulfill, and those who are weakest must inevitably drop behind.

Do you want to be one of these, or do you want to take your place in the world that nature intended you should?

Tears of experience in the treatment of PELVIC, NERVOUS and CHRONIC diseases have enabled me to perfect methods which will not only cure these DEEP-SEATED diseases in which the ordinary methods have failed, but will restore to a normal and healthy condition the broken-down and debilitated NERVOUS system.

I PERSONALLY TREAT EVERY CASE MYSELF.

HUNDREDS of satisfied patients have testified to my ability to cure these CHRONIC and DEEP-SEATED diseases in which the ordinary methods have failed.

FREE EXAMINATION—To any sufferer who honestly desires to get well I will give a careful and thorough examination FREE OF CHARGE, and if your case is curable I will make my fee as low as possible and consistent with honest, scientific treatment. If you cannot be cured I will frankly tell you so, as I have no time to waste on incurable diseases.

I learn the exact condition of the rectum, the bladder and every organ of the genito-urinary system. This in itself is of the highest importance, inasmuch as a broken-down nervous system which many more of our troubles have failed, but will restore to a normal and healthy condition the broken-down and debilitated NERVOUS system.

GOVERNOR GOES ON A VACATION

With Mrs. Marshall He is Off on a Ten Days' Southern Trip.

TALKS OF NEW LAWS

Indianapolis, Ind., March 10.—Before leaving for Danville, Ky., last night, with Mrs. Marshall, Governor Marshall expressed his approval of the work of the sixty-seventh general assembly. He was sitting in his office chatting about war and politics, when the news came that Adjutant General McCoy, of this city, had received an invitation to send a limited number of commissioned officers of the Indiana National Guard to the "maneuvers" on the border line between Texas and Mexico.

"I hope General McCoy will keep enough men here in Indiana to guard the constitution," he said.

The governor was asked which one he had in mind and he replied that he meant both, the one that is, and "the one that is to be."

"You see we find ourselves in a pretty fix," said the governor, "if all the officers of the National Guard were to go south and if it should develop suddenly that we need troops to suppress an 'insurgency' movement here at home."

Last Bills Come Swiftly.

"It's too early to tell," continued the governor, "what may be the result of the legislation passed by the general assembly just closed. When bills first began to reach me for my signature I had plenty of time to examine them. In the closing days of the session the bills came so fast that I signed them without much careful consideration. I simply couldn't take the time to study each bill thoroughly."

"As a whole, the work of the legislature appears good enough on paper, but it is possible that the courts may undo much of it. The courts always have the last say, and perhaps it is well enough that they do. No doubt they will save us from any gross errors which might have been made in the great haste to place laws on the statute books. If there are not enough courts to pass on the work of the general assembly, perhaps we can add some more."

"Many of the acts which were passed involve technical points of law, and some may be found to be unconstitutional. I do hope that the liquor question has been removed from politics. I believe the Proctor regulation act to be a wise measure, and I believe it will prove eminently satisfactory to the various conflicting interests which the general assembly sought to pacify."

Limited Time Mindard.

"The making of laws is no child's play, and the limited time which the general assembly had to consider the important measures which were presented compelled the members to discard many worthy bills that otherwise might have received the consideration to which they were entitled."

Governor Marshall said he was well satisfied with the uniform courtesy he had received from members of the legislature; that the relations between himself and the members representing both parties had been the most pleasant.

"When the work of the general assembly finally is weighed and the value of the acts passed is determined, both of which are impossible now, I suspect it will be found that more real good was accomplished than in any recent session."

The governor and Mrs. Marshall left last night for Danville, Ky., to spend Sunday with friends. After Sunday they will go further south to one of the many springs in Kentucky. They expect to be gone ten days or two weeks.

Weak Stomachs Cause Waste

When the stomach fails to get all the nutriment out of the food we eat, there occurs an unnecessary waste, and waste always causes weakness. The final results are, the whole physical being is affected, the nerves become starved and enfeebled, the blood watery and poisoned, the heart grows weak and unstrung, the kidneys and bowels sluggish and clogged up, and a general breakdown is only a matter of time, and usually a very short time.

Golden Crown

The GREAT RESTORATIVE immediately heals the feverish and inflamed stomach, restoring it to perfect health and vigor. The great remedy not only acts as a soothing and healing balm for the linings of the stomach and bowels, but it has proven successful in chronic and long standing cases of nervous debility, kidney and bladder affections, heart trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation and debilitated conditions of every kind. A man came in our office the other day especially to tell us he could eat one pound of steak twice a day without any distress whatever. This same man three months ago could not eat meat at all, and not much of anything else without spitting the greater portion of it up again. This is but one case out of hundreds in which his great remedy has proven its great value. Price 25 cents.

Ladies are no longer obliged to use Face Powder. It only helps for an hour or so, then it's gone. Our Electro Skin Food produces the same effect as powder, and its effects are lasting. In addition it rounds out the cheeks, tones, softens and whitens the skin with the first application. If one week's use does not make you look five years younger we will give your money back. You should not fail to give it a trial. Large jar, Price 50 cents. THE LECTRO COMPANY, Chicago, Ill. For Sale and Guaranteed by D. & N. PHARMACY.

WOULD BAR HAREM SKIRTS.

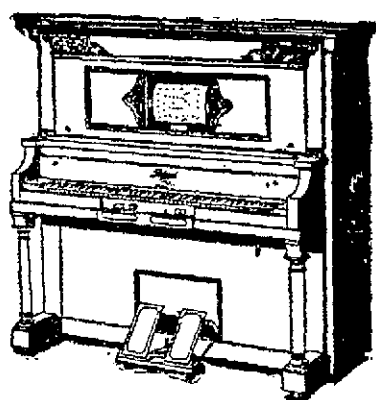

Illinois Legislature Raises Laughter by Introduction of Bill.

Springfield, Ill., March 10.—Harem and hobble skirts were made the subject of legislation in a bill presented in the Illinois house yesterday by Representative Murphy, of Cook county. "Hobbles" measuring less than one and-half yards and not more than three yards at the bottom are prohibited. An absolute ban is placed upon the "harem" skirt by the bill, which prohibits any "females" appearing in public in the garb. The introduction of the bill raised a laugh among the members.

Grumpy—Waiter, I have never tasted a worse steak in my life.
Waiter—Impossible, sir.

PARIS HAS INGENIOUS THIEVES.

Even the Valet de Chambre May Only Be Working for Your Money.

(London Globe.)

The ingenuity of the Paris thief is at times astounding. A florist received the visit of an elegantly dressed young woman, who asked that a bouquet be brought to her address, close by.

Five minutes after the departure of the lady a valet de chambre, wearing the usual yellow striped waistcoat and white apron, brought the florist a note from her asking that whoever took the flowers home might also bring the change of 100 francs less thirteen francs, the price of the bouquet. The messenger on arriving at the address given was met outside the door of the apartment at which he was to leave the flowers by the lady who had ordered them. She was apparently just leaving the house.

"Give me the change," she said. "My husband will give you the hundred francs." Then, having put the money in her purse, she rang the bell and walked quickly downstairs. The messenger was received by the tenant of the house whose name the young woman had used when ordering the flowers.

A confused discussion ensued and by the time the two had finished with their explanations the adventurer was miles away. The police are now looking for the smart young woman and her accomplice, the valet de chambre.

PENNY LUNCHEON A SUCCESS.

Mrs. B. Rosing, president of the Fourth District club, is feeling pleased at the report which has just been made on the first month of penny luncheons in the Lincoln school. The result of the first month shows the cost of the food has been covered by the money received from pupils, but the expense of the woman who prepares the lunches has to be otherwise provided. So far, the latter expense has been paid by the clubs of this district, which were instrumental in trying out the scheme. In the past month 8,100 lunches have been served, and sixty-five club women have given their time in the morning to the work. Teachers of the school report that as one notable result of the scheme the sale of cheap candy has been cut down to almost nothing, the children saving their pennies for the wholesome recess luncheon. No attempt is made to serve a meal, sandwiches and fruit are usually the menu, and this has been found satisfactory. —St. Paul Pioneer Press.

WHEAT MAY FALL LOWER IN PRICE

Big Acreage for This Year and Damage Danger
Point is Passed.

THE LOCAL MARKET

Although wheat is now at its lowest point in price since the year of 1909, now being quoted at 90c, the probability is that it will fall to a lower point. This is the opinion of local dealers, and this lower price may come soon.

The reason for this anticipated lower price is that the wheat acreage for the present year is very large, larger than it has been for years, and also that the yield per acre promises to be greater than in former years. The danger point for wheat, on account of weather conditions, is still ahead. Another reason is the effect the Canadian reciprocity measure will have on prices.

Last year at this time wheat was bringing $1.15, and it held close to this price all through the month of March. The declining prices now, is causing many millers throughout the country to unload their wheat and there are large quantities being sold. The local market was uncommonly dull this forenoon. But little was doing on the street. Some dressed beef was there, selling at 10c. The city butcher there was a good deal of hay and corn coming in. Fifteen loads of hay arrived yesterday, the quotations being $13 to $14 per ton at 12c. The opening was on the Barr street market remain practically unchanged.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.
Chicago, Ill., March 10.—Wheat prices rallied here today on account of native firmness at Liverpool in the face of the heavy decline yesterday on this side of the Atlantic. The action of the British market was attributed to a large demand from the continent and to a little improvement in the spot inquiry. Absence of selling pressure had considerable to do with the rise. The opening was 1/2c higher to 1/2c off. May started at 89 1/2c to 90c, the same as last night, to 1/2c added cost, and steadied at the top level.
Local traders bid corn up a little. The pretext was fine weather. May opened steady at 44 1/2c, higher at 45 1/2c, and advanced to 46 1/2c.
Although oats were very slow the market lined in a small way with corn. May started unchanged at 30 1/2c to 31c and advanced to 31c.
Provisions became stronger all around because of an upturn in the price of hogs. First sales were the same as last night to 1/2c higher. Produce prices ranging at $17.75 for pork, $2.15 for lard and $5.50 for ribs.

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

The Princess rink is voted the finest dance hall in the city.

Dr. Ben. Mommer will open luxurious dental parlors above his father's shoe store on Calhoun street.

Marriage licenses: Frank H. Yost and Wilhelmina Fleischmann, William C. Vogel and Mary Tolan.

W. V. Worthington and R. C. Bell are members of a stock company formed at Eaton to bore for natural gas.

The Fleming Manufacturing company has received orders for seventy-two road graders from their agent at Alameda, Cal., within the last thirty days.

Belle Boyd, the original rebel spy, has been engaged to deliver her famous lecture, "Reminiscences of the War," at the Academy of Music next Sunday night.

The Tri-State Musicians' association will hold a reunion at Warsaw in June. Gert Shober, of Fort Wayne, is president, and Charles K. Greene, of Albion, secretary.

The Indiana senate has taken no action on the appointment of Postmaster Kaough. Neither he nor any other democrat is likely to be rejected, the Gazette to the contrary notwithstanding.

John C. Peters, as assignor to the Horton Manufacturing company, was granted a patent on a washing machine by the patent commissioners at Washington yesterday.

Rev. S. A. Northrop tells The Sentinel that the Baptist home for aged ministers will surely be located in Fort Wayne. A consultation was held here yesterday, with the preference above noted.

William H. Davis was yesterday given a patent on a title and index holder, John J. Fraiken on a check row corn planter and fertilizer distributor, and Conrad Schifferley on a churn. All are Fort Wayne men.

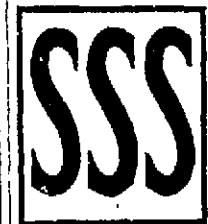

The Young Men's society of St. Paul's Lutheran church elected these officers last night: President, C. Schween; vice president, W. Paul; secretary, C. Krudop; treasurer, C. Moeller; directors, Theo. Meyer, F. Luhnman, W. Gerberding and H. Brink-roeger.

I have high-class investments in Local Bonds and Local Stocks. C. F. Pfeiffer, Shoaff Bldg.

SCROFULA

HEREDITARY BLOOD POISON

Scrofula is a disease manifested usually by a swelling and ulceration of the glands, especially about the neck. It is almost entirely hereditary in its origin, being the dregs or remains of some specific blood poison. Where the blood is greatly weakened with the scrofulous poison, the disease attacks other portions of the system besides the glands, and then we see its effects in weak eyes, poorly developed bodies, running sores and ulcers, skin diseases, especially on the scalp, catarrhal troubles, etc. Scrofula usually makes its appearance in childhood, though manhood or womanhood may be reached before the poison progresses to the stage of outward manifestation. S. S. S. is the one real cure for Scrofula. It is a blood purifier without an equal, and it cures this destructive blood poison by removing every trace of the infection from the circulation. S. S. S., in addition to cleansing and purifying the blood, assists the stomach and digestive members in the creation of new blood corpuscles and other nourishing matter for the circulation. S. S. S. increases the resistive powers of the system and by strengthening and building up the vitality, allows nature to make a perfect and lasting cure. Book describing the disease and any medical advice sent free to all who write.

ARBOR DAY CALL IS PROSE POEM

Governor Marshall's Proclamation is Work of Literary Art.

TWO DAYS SELECTED

Indianapolis, March 10.—Governor Thomas R. Marshall, in his usual poetic style of proclamation, yesterday designated April 28 and Oct. 27, 1911, for the observance of state Arbor days. Copies of the proclamation will be distributed among the schools of Indiana, which are accustomed to plant trees in observance of Arbor day.

The governor's proclamation is a scholarly effort and evidently received much study and thought in the writing. Governor Marshall has won considerable fame for his word-painting in official documents. The proclamation follows:

"A Proclamation: "The race might well despair were there not as many means of uplift as there are of depression in life. Each breast knoweth its own bitterness. No one can surely tell from the human viewpoint what is the cloud-breaker and what the care lightener. Sometimes it is a word, a smile, a prayer. All are agreed, however, that sunshine, green fields, running brooks and lofty foliage full of have soothed the weary brain and knitted up the ravaged sleeve of care. He who can furnish to the weary laden shade of a tree where, in to cool the fever of life's blood and calm the perturbed spirit, should do so. That all who can may at the same time provide a resting place for earth's tired ones, I, Thomas R. Marshall, governor of the state of Indiana, designate Friday, April 28th and Friday, October 27th, 1911, as Arbor days in Indiana, wherein I urge the planting of trees for beauty's and for goodness' sake.

"In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the state of Indiana at the Capitol in the city of Indianapolis, this 9th day of March, A. D., 1911.

"THOMAS R. MARSHALL, Governor.

"LEW G. ELLINGHAM, Secretary of State."
